guide to our high tech lifestyle this collection analyzes twenty first century american television programs that rely upon temporal and narrative experimentation these shows play with time slowing it down to unfold the narrative through time retardation and compression they disrupt the chronological flow of time itself using flashbacks and insisting that viewers be able to situate themselves in both the present and the past narrative threads although temporal play has existed on the small screen prior to the new millennium never before has narrative time been so freely adapted in mainstream television the essayists offer explanations for not only the frequency of time play in contemporary programming but the implications of its sometimes disorienting presence drawing upon the fields of cultural studies television scholarship and literary studies as well as overarching theories concerning postmodernity and narratology time in television narrative offers some critical suggestions the increasing number of of television programs concerned with time may stem from any and all of the following recent scientific approaches to quantum physics and temporality new of history and posthistory or trends in late capitalistic production and consumption in the new culture of instantaneity or in the recent
