The (Im)possibility of Forgiveness 2019-09-10 the findings from this study go beyond biblical theological scholarship on forgiveness dion forster boldly succeeds in showing that creating conditions for deeper human connection transforms impossibility into possibility and shines a light on the face of the other who can now be forgiven pumla gobodo madikizela professor and research chair of historical trauma and transformation stellenbosch university dion forster refuses to accept the conclusion that understandings of forgiveness may be so different and complex across social racial and cultural groups in south africa that actual forgiveness may be impossible using matthew 18 15 35 as a meeting ground he gathers ordinary methodist christians for cross cultural intergroup bible reading he draws upon the philosophical integral theory of ken wilber the insights of intergroup contact theory and the methods of critical biblical exegesis to organize analyse and understand this encounter what emerges is a hopeful conclusion that differing conceptions of forgiveness its challenges and possibilities can be understood shared and perhaps actualized across social racial and cultural barriers bruce c birch dean and professor of biblical theology wesley theological seminary reading dion forster on the im possibility of forgiveness i was once again struck by our desperate need to learn more about ourselves and one another but also about the meaning of forgiveness in our respective communities this is an excellent example of the potential of intercultural bible reading forster not only makes an outstanding academic contribution with implications for new testament studies systematic and public theology but also for flesh and blood communities wrestling with the possibilities and perils of forgiveness juliana claassens professor of old testament studies and head of department chair of the gender unit Stellenbosch University this book deals with contested and topical matters biblical hermeneutics has always been contested how to read and understand biblical passages things become even more contested when such passages are read inter culturally they become even more contested when the words are about contested personal and social issues like Jesus words on forgiveness in Matthew 18 empirical studies like this show how deeply contested such readings truly are in the context of South African churches with their painful histories of division and conflict future academic work will therefore benefit from the creative and careful methodological approach developed in this study however this book offers much more than academic promise precisely because of the theme so topical today and without doubt topical for a long time to come and in many other places in our contemporary world as well forster offers resources for reading and conversation for everyone concerned with public life today this is public theology in action showing how faith matters without prescribing answers but rather by invitation to join an informed discussion dirk j smit the rimmer and ruth devries professor of reformed theology and public life Princeton Theological Seminary

in a book that itself exemplifies the dialogic scholarship it proposes Kay Halasek reconceives composition studies from a Bakhtinian perspective focusing on both the discipline's theoretical assumptions and its pedagogies framing her discussions at every level of the discipline theoretical historical pedagogical Halasek provides an overview of portions of the Bakhtinian canon relevant to composition studies explores the implications of Mikhail Bakhtin's work in the teaching of writing and for current debates about the role of theory in composition studies and provides a model of scholarship that strives to maintain dialogic balance between practice and theory between composition studies and Bakhtinian thought Halasek's study ranges broadly across the field of composition painting in wide strokes a new picture of the discipline focusing on the finer details of the rhetorical situation and teasing out the implications of Bakhtinian thought for classroom practice by examining the nature of critical reading and writing the efficacy and ethics of academic discourse student resistance and critical and conflict pedagogy the book ends by setting out a pedagogy of possibility what Halasek terms elsewhere a post-critical pedagogy that redefines and redirects current discussions of home versus academic literacies and discourses

this book brings together mobilities and possibility studies by arguing that the possible emerges in our experience in and through acts of movement physical social and symbolic the basic premise that mobility begets possibility is supported with evidence covering a wide range of geographic and temporal scales first in relation to the evolution of our species and the considerable impact of mobility on the emergence and spread of prehistoric innovations second considering the circulation of people things and creative ideas throughout history third in view of migrations that define an individual life course and its numerous im possibilities and fourth in the inner psychological movements specific for our wandering and wondering minds this is not however a romantic account of how more mobility is always better or leads to increased creativity and innovation after all movement can fail in opening up new possibilities and innovations can cause harm or reduce our agency and yet at an ontological level the fact remains that it is only by moving from one position to another that we develop novel perspectives on the world and find alternative ways of acting and being at this foundational level mobilities engender possibilities and the latter in turn fuel new mobilities this interplay examined throughout the book should be of interest for researchers and practitioners working on mobility migration creativity innovation cultural diffusion life course approaches and more generally on the possibilities embedded in mobile lives

a prominent theologian explores what it means to be human preeminent scholar and theologian ingolf dalferth offers mature reflections on what it means to be human a topic at the forefront of contemporary christian thought dalferth argues that humans should be defined not as deficient beings who must compensate for the weaknesses of their biological nature by means of technology morals media religion and culture but as creatures of possibility he understands human beings by reference to their capacity to live a truly humane life dalferth explores the sheer gratuitousness of god s agency in justifying and sanctifying the human person defining humans not by what we do or achieve but by god s creative and saving action in the gospel we are set free to interact with the world and creation

for kierkegaard the most important thing in life is to become a single individual or a true self we are all born as human beings but this makes us only members of a crowd not true selves to become a true self we must transcend what we are at any given time and orient ourselves to the possible and to the actuality of the possible to which all that is possible owes itself true selves exist only in becoming they are fragile and that is their strength they are not grounded by their own activities but in a reality extra se the flip side of which is a deep passivity that underlies all their activity and allows them to continually leave themselves and move beyond their respective actualities toward the new and the possible therefore without the passion of possibility there is no truly single individual this study of kierkegaard s post metaphysical theology outlines his existential phenomenology of the self by exploring in three parts what kierkegaard has to say about the sense of self finitude uniqueness self interpretation and alienation about selfless passion anxiety trust hope and true love and about how to become a true self a christian in christendom and a neighbor of god s neighbors

this book focuses on edmund husserl s philosophical collaboration with eugen fink which took place in the early 1930s and shows how their disagreement over the nature origin and aim of phenomenology led to a crucial divergence on the issue of who was engaging in phenomenology and with what motivation it provides a philosophical investigation of a key moment in the development of husserl s late phenomenology the author claims that husserl s meta phenomenological exploration of the theoretical and importantly practical underpinnings of the transcendental investigator leads him to affirm their humanity and ultimately to adopt an ethically charged ideal of higher humanity as telos of phenomenology fink argued that phenomenology was essentially an activity beyond the horizon of human possibility and history in contrast džanić illustrates how husserl was looking for a way to theoretically unite the purity of transcendental insight with the existential reality and practical motives of the phenomenologist understanding the complex aspects of this debate is crucial for understanding the crisis period of husserl s thought this text appeals to graduate students and researchers in phenomenology and related fields of philosophy

Creatures of Possibility 2016-11-15

corporations and the environments in which they operate are complex with changing multiple dimensions and an inherent capacity to evolve qualitatively a central premise of this study is that a postmodern reading of ethics represents an expression of and an engagement with the ethical complexities that define the business landscape in particular the deconstructive philosophy of jacques derrida offers a non trivial reading of a complex notion of ethics and thereby helps us to develop the skills necessary to critique and intervene in our practices and to develop robust strategies for living in the absence of prescriptive ethical frameworks although a central premise of this study is that substantive ethical claims can only be generated within a given context the study nevertheless presents readers with a meta position that illustrates the type of considerations that should inform ethical reflection from a complexity perspective in order to illustrate the value that this meta position holds for business ethics these considerations are explored in terms of the implications that they hold for our understanding of corporate social responsibility for the practice of responsible management and leadership practices and for teaching business ethics
