traditionally trauma has been defined as negatively impacting external events with resulting damage this book puts forth an entirely different thesis trauma is universal occurring under even the best of circumstances and unavoidably sculpting the very building blocks of character structure in traumatic experiences of normal development dr carl shubs depathologizes the experience of trauma by presenting a listening perspective which helps recognize the presence and effects of traumatic experiences of normal development tend by using a reconstruction of object relations theory this outlook redefines trauma as the breach in intrapsychic organization of self affect and other sao the three components of object relations units which combine to form intricate and changeable constellations that are no less than the total experience of living in any given moment bridging the gap between the trauma and analytic communities as well as integrating intrapsychic and relational frameworks the sao tend perspective provides a trauma based band of attunement for attending to all relational encounters including those occurring in therapy though targeted to mental health professionals this book will help enable therapists and sophisticated lay readers alike to recognize the impact of relational encounters providing new tools to understand the traumas we have experienced and to minimize the hold they have on us
