creative equitable and democratic society the vietnam 2035 report a joint undertaking of the government of vietnam and the world bank group seeks to better comprehend the challenges and opportunities that lie ahead it shows that the country s aspirations and the supporting policy and institutional agenda stand on three pillars balancing economic prosperity with environmental sustainability promoting equity and social inclusion to develop a harmonious middle class society and enhancing the capacity and accountability of the state to establish a rule of law state and a democratic society vietnam 2035 further argues that the rapid growth needed to achieve the bold aspirations will be sustained only if it stands on faster productivity growth and reflects the costs of environmental degradation productivity growth in turn will benefit from measures to enhance the competitiveness of domestic enterprises scale up the benefits of urban agglomeration and build national technological and innovative capacity maintaining the record on equity and social inclusion will require lifting marginalized groups and delivering services to an aging and urbanizing middle class society and to fulfill the country s aspirations the institutions of governance will need to become modern transparent and fully rooted in the rule of law in respect of its largest defence projects there are early signs that the ministry of defence has begun to make realistic trade offs between cost time technical requirements and the amount of equipment to be purchased nevertheless the continuing variances to cost and time show the mod needs to do consistently better this report which gives a progress review of the 16 largest defence projects shows that in the last year there has been a total forecast slippage of 139 months and increase in costs of 468 million this means that since the projects were approved costs have increased by 6.6 billion around 12 per cent more than the planned cost and the projects have been delayed by 468 months taking almost a third longer than originally expected it would be unrealistic to expect mod and industry to identify every risk at the start of technically challenging projects however the continuing problems indicate that mod has more to learn from historic the mod is accepting the capability risk and some wider costs resulting from these project delays and is having to make difficult decisions about long term capabilities the mod has made a significant investment in new and upgraded helicopters to address the shortfall identified in the nao s 2004 report the mod has also spent 787 million on air transport and air to air refuelling aircraft to support current operations and address capability gaps such as those caused by the previously reported delays to the a400m transport aircraft however capability gaps remain

Minerals Yearbook 2017-02-15 this book shows why vietnam has not become the dragon it is often touted to be the team of authors include both long time observers and junior scholars who present cutting edge research on the latest trends as well as major challenges facing the country s economy and political system as vietnam seeks to escape from poverty and the legacies of mistaken socialist policies its economy has become fully integrated into the global economy yet without an effective and far sighted leadership it is still occupying a low position in the global value chains and becoming increasingly dependent on china politically after three decades of reform the vietnamese communist party s grip on power has well adapted to the market economy but is confronting deep vulnerabilities as observed in its eroding ability to control workers the media public universities and state owned enterprises the book also includes a section that applies formal and statistical methods to compare vietnam with china in two critical areas of political accountability and anti corruption policy

Marine Surplus Seller 1946 the people s republic of china has experienced numerous challenges and undergone tremendous structural changes over the past four decades the party state now faces a fundamental tension in its pursuit of social stability and regime durability repressive state strategies enable the chinese communist party to maintain its monopoly on political power yet the quality of governance and regime legitimacy are enhanced when the state adopts more inclusive modes of engagement with society based on a dynamic typology of state society relations this volume adopts an evolutionary framework to examine how the chinese state relates with non state actors across several fields of governance drawing on original fieldwork the authors identify areas in which state society interactions have shifted over time ranging from more constructive engagement to protracted conflict this evolutionary approach provides nuanced insight into the circumstances wherein the party state exerts its coercive power versus engaging in more flexible responses or policy adaptations

The Politics of Custom 2018-03-08. The current defence programme is unaffordable. The Ministry of Defence (MoD) has already reduced the deficit between the defence budget and planned expenditure by 15 billion, but a shortfall of between 6 billion and 36 billion remains. The financial crisis means a substantial increase in funding is unlikely, and closing the gap will require bold action as part of the strategic defence review, which is expected after the general election. The MoD has reduced equipment numbers being bought on some projects and taken short-term decisions to slip other projects, but this approach will lead to long-term cost increases. In 2008-09, costs on the 15 major defence projects examined by the NAO increased by 1.2 billion, with two-thirds (733 million) directly due to the decision to slow projects. This approach does not address the fundamental affordability problems: increases through life costs and represents poor value for money on the specific projects affected. There are signs of improvement in project cost control, with innovative decisions being taken to ensure progress but unless the mod addresses the underlying budgetary and governance issues it will not consistently deliver value for money nor will the operational benefits of expensive new capabilities be available to the armed forces in a timely manner or in the numbers originally planned the current cost of 15 major military projects has risen by 3 6 billion compared with the expected costs when the investment decisions were taken the total slippage averaged over the 14 major projects with in service dates is over two years per project
