America's Ocean Wilderness 2008 examines a handful of famous ocean explorers and naturalists including Jacques Cousteau, Thor Heyerdahl, and Rachel Carson among others to demonstrate how their work helped shape the way many Americans would think about and interact with the ocean.

Polar Bear Trophies Importation 1997 this book examines the social, political, and ideological dimensions of the encounter between the indigenous inhabitants of the Andaman Islands, British colonizers, and Indian settlers in the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. The British Indian Penal Settlements in the Andaman Islands, beginning tentatively in 1789 and renewed on a larger scale in 1858, represent an extensive complex experiment in the management of populations through colonial discourses of race, criminality, civilization, and savagery. Focussing on the ubiquitous characterization of the Andaman Islanders as savages, this study explores the particular relationship between savagery and the practice of colonialism. Satadru Sen examines savagery and the savage as dynamic components of colonialism in South Asia, not intellectual abstractions with clear and fixed meanings but politically alive and fiercely contested products of the colony, illuminating and historicizing the processes by which the discourse of savagery goes through multiple and fundamental shifts between the late eighteenth and late nineteenth centuries. He shows the links and breaks between these shifts and changing ideas of race, adulthood, and masculinity in the Andamans, British India, Britain, and in the wider empire. He also highlights the implications of these changes for the savages themselves. At the broadest level, this book re-examines the relationship between the modern and the primitive in a colonial world.
