followers from morocco to mecca the life and teachings of zarruq remain useful for muslims they are a piece of the past that present day muslims are rediscovering and redeploying to reconcile islam s heritage with its very troubled post colonial present this reference work covers the classical transitional and modern periods editors and contributors cover an international scope of arabic literature in many countries in the middle ages muslim travelers embarked on a rihla or world tour as surveyors emissaries and educators on these journeys voyagers not only interacted with foreign cultures touring greek civilization exploring the middle east and north africa and seeing parts of europe they also established both philosophical and geographic boundaries between the faithful and the heathen these voyages thus gave the islamic world which at the time extended from the maghreb to the indus valley a coherent identity islam and travel in the middle ages assesses both the religious and philosophical aspects of travel as well as the economic and cultural conditions that made the rihla possible houari touati tracks the compilers of the hadith who culled oral traditions linked to the prophet the linguists and lexicologists who journeyed to the desert to learn bedouin arabic the geographers who mapped the muslim world and the students who ventured to study with holy men and scholars travel with its costs discomforts and dangers emerges in this study as both a means of spiritual growth and a metaphor for progress touati s book will interest a broad range of scholars in history literature and anthropology stem cell therapy is ushering in a new era of medicine in which we will be able to repair human organs and tissue at their most fundamental level that of the cell the power of stem cells to regenerate cells of specific types such as heart liver and muscle is unique and extraordinary in 1998 researchers learned how to isolate and culture embryonic stem cells which are only obtainable through the destruction of human embryos an ethical debate has raged since then about the ethics of this research usually pitting pro life advocates vs those who see the great promise of curing some of humanity s most persistent diseases in this book cynthia cohen agrees that we need to work toward a consensus on the issue of how we treat the embryo but more broadly she claims that we need to transform and expand the ethical and policy debates on stem cells adult and embryonic this important and much needed book is both a primer and a means by which to understand the implications of this research cohen starts by introducing readers to the basic science of stem cell research and the core ethical questions surrounding the embryo she then expands the scope of the debate looking at the moral questions that will crop up down the line such as e g the use of therapeutic cloning to overcome the body s immune resistance to stem cells the ethics of using animals to test stem cells how to disentangle federal and state legal and regulatory policies in pursuit of a coherent national policy and how to develop an ethics of stem cell research that will accommodate new techniques and controversies that we cannot even foresee now her final chapter develops a concrete plan for an oversight system for this research this is the first single author book that addresses the many broad ethical and legal issues related to stem cells and it should be of great interest to bioethicists researchers clinicians philosophers theologians lawyers policy makers and general readers in man versus society in medieval islam franz rosenthal 1914 2003 investigates the tensions and conflicts that existed between individuals and society as the focus of his study of muslim social history the book brings together works spanning fifty years the monographs the muslim concept of freedom the herb hashish versus medieval muslim society brill 1971 gambling in islam brill 1975 and sweeter than hope complaint and hope in medieval islam brill 1983 along with all the articles on unsanctioned practices sexuality and institutional learning reprinted here together for the first time they constitute the most extensive collection of source material on all these themes from all genres of arabic writing judiciously translated and analyzed no other study to date presents the panorama of medieval muslim societies in their manifold aspects in as detailed comprehensive and illuminating a manner uses original evidence and first hand interviews to demonstrate how ceasefires serve as tools for wartime order and statebuilding the title of this volume implies two things the greatness of the scientific tradition that muslims had lost and the power of the west in whose threatening shadow reformers now labored to modernize in order to defend themselves against those very powers they were taking as models copernicus and darwin were the names that dominated the debate on science whose arguments and rebuttals were published mainly in the religious and secular journals in cairo and beirut from the 1870s analysis and interpretation of this literature shows the hope that arab reformers had of duplicating the japanese success followed by the despair when success was denied a cultural malaise festered from generations of despair defeat and foreign occupation and this feeling transmogrified after 1967 to a psychosis in a significant number of secular writers educators and religious reformers the great debate on assimilating science was turned inward where defensive mechanisms of denial spun out perversions of science the quran becoming a thesaurus of science and a more extreme derivative of that something called islamic science arising as an alternate science that was to be in harmony with the quran shari'a and muslim belief this volume reveals the undermining effect of european imperialism on western oriented religious reformers and secular intellectuals for whom science and political reform went together and concludes with a chapter on the state of science in contemporary muslim societies and the efforts to institutionalize science before the upheavals of 2011 so as to bring to life an authentic and indigenous culture that would sustain scientific study and research as autonomous pursuits prior to the advent of electricity every night held the possibility of a celestial light show people in even the most urban environments were exposed to the awe and majesty of the heavens which clearly proclaim the glory of god the contemplation of the celestial orbs and their movements provided early man with the most direct connection to his lord in the quranic story of abraham it is his observance of heavenly phenomena that leads him to his certainty of god's unity and transcendence since the time of the seljuq turks the crescent moon has been a sign of islam for muslims in north america there has been much confusion regarding when ramadan begins when to fast and when to break the fast hamza yusuf provides clarity through this detailed and scholarly work that decisively makes the case for sighting the crescent moon with the naked eye as has been the islamic tradition for 1400 years this is essential reading for anyone seeking guidance on this important and sacred matter through analysis of the covenants of the prophet muhammad which pledge protection to diverse faith communities this book makes a profoundly important contribution to research on early islam by determining the covenants historicity and textual accuracy the authors focus on the prophet muhammad's relationship with other faith communities by conducting detailed textual and linguistic analysis of documents which have received little scholarly consideration before this not only includes decrees of the prophet muhammad umar ibn al khattab alī ibn abī Ṭālib and mu'āwiyah ibn abī sufyan but also of important muslim rulers they present their findings in relation to contemporaneous historical writings historic testimonies official recognition archaeological evidence historic scribal conventions date matching calculations textual parallelisms and references in muslim and non muslim sources they also provide new and revised translations of various covenants issued by the prophet muhammad which were attested by muslim authorities after him the authors argue that the claim of forgery is no longer tenable following the application of rigorous textual and historical analysis this book is essential reading for muslims christians jews samaritans and zoroastrians as well as anyone interested in interfaith relations islamophobia extremist ideologies security studies and the relationship between orthodox and oriental christianity with islam the companion encyclopedia of asian philosophy is a unique one volume reference work which makes a broad range of richly varied philosophical ethical and theological traditions accessible to a wide audience the companion is divided into six sections covering the main traditions within asian thought persian indian buddhist chinese japanese and islamic philosophy each section contains a collection of chapters which provide comprehensive coverage of the origins of the tradition its approaches to for example logic and languages and to questions of morals and society the chapters also contain useful histories of the lives of the key influential thinkers as well as a thorough analysis of the current trends on the basis of a detailed analysis of the archaeological evidence and of the written documentation this book examines the origins and the development of the fortification of shayzar especially between the 10th and the 13th centuries this profound book is a powerful yet balanced critique of mainstream economics that makes a forceful plea for taking economics out of its secular and occident centred cocoon it presents an innovative and formidable case to re link economics with moral and egalitarian concerns so as to harness the discipline in the service of humanity m umer chapra is ranked amongst the top 50 global leaders in islamic economics islamica 500 2015 and has been awarded with two prestigious awards for his contributions to the field islamic development bank award for islamic economics 1989 and the king faisal international prize for islamic studies 1989 this noble house explores the preoccupation with biblical genealogy that emerged among jews in the islamic near east between the eleventh and fourteenth centuries arnold franklin looks to jewish society's fascination with davidic ancestry examining the profusion of claims to the lineage that had already begun to appear by the year 1000 the attempts to chart the validity of such claims through elaborate genealogical lists and the range of meanings that came to be ascribed to the house of david in this period jews and muslims shared the perception that the davidic line and the noble family of the prophet muhammad were counterparts to one another but captivation with davidic lineage was just one facet of a much broader jewish concern with biblical ancestry based on documentary material from the cairo geniza the book argues that this genealogical turn should be understood as a consequence of jewish society s dynamic encounter with its arab islamic milieu and constituted a selective adaptation to the importance of ancestry in the dominant cultural environment while jewish society surely had genealogical materials and preoccupations of its own upon which to draw the arab islamic regard for tracing the lineage of muhammad provided the impetus for deploying those traditions in new and unprecedented ways on the one hand the increased focus on ancestry is an instance of medieval jews reflexively and unselfconsciously making use of the cultural forms of their muslim neighbors on the other it is an expression of cultural competitiveness or even resistance an implicit response to the claim of arab genealogical superiority that uses the very methods of the arab science of genealogy to be sure franklin notes jews were only one of several non arab minority groups to take up genealogy in this way at the broadest level then this noble house illuminates a strategy that various minority populations utilized as they sought legitimacy within the medieval arab islamic world the present english translation reproduces the original german of carl brockelmann s geschichte der arabischen litteratur gal as accurately as possible in the interest of user friendliness the following emendations have been made in the translation personal names are written out in full except b for ibn brockelmann s transliteration of arabic has been adapted to comply with modern standards for english language publications modern english equivalents are given for place names e g damascus cairo jerusalem etc several erroneous dates have been corrected and the page references to the two german editions have been retained in the margin except in the supplement volumes where new references to the first two english volumes have been inserted centuries is the complete collection of quintus curtius s essays from the years 2020 to 2023 and maxims an enduring source of practical wisdom and inspiration these timeless writings are unified by and imbued with a passionate belief in direct experience moral structure and endurance in adversity this book is the result of the first comprehensive research carried out within the framework of islamic studies on childhood in medieval muslim society it deals with the images of children with adults attitudes towards them and with concepts of childhood as reflected in legal theological philosophical ethical and medical writings as well as works of belles lettres the studies included in this volume are based on the historical philological methodology enriched by a comparative approach towards the subject this 4 hour free course explored buying drinks and snacks in an italian caf to support the development of listening and speaking skills in italian this book considers the rarely studied but pervasive concepts of doubt that medieval muslim jurists used to resolve problematic criminal cases the peer reviewed journal of religion in japan jrj constitutes a venue for academic research in the complex and multifaceted field of japanese religion the journal takes into consideration japanese religious phenomena through their historical developments and contemporary evolution both within and outside of japan the jrj is committed to an approach based on religious studies and is open to contributions coming from different disciplines such as anthropology sociology history buddhist studies japanese studies art history and area studies using contemporary illustrations legal maxims in islamic criminal law delves into the theoretical and practical studies of al qawaid al fiqhyyah in islamic legal theory it elucidates the importance of this concept in the application of islamic law and demonstrates how the concept relates to the objectives of islamic law maqāṣid al sharī ah generally included in this examination are the following maxims al umūr bi conclusions bibliography centered on legal discourses of islam s first six centuries this book analyzes juristic writings on the topic of rape routes and realms explores the ways in which muslims expressed attachment to land in formal texts from the ninth through the eleventh centuries these texts reveal that territories were imagined specifically as homes cities and regions and acted as powerful categories of belonging in the early islamic world one of egypt s best known geologists rushdi said was under president gamal abd al nasser an important official and head of the national mining organization which was responsible for surveying the egyptian deserts for mineral deposits this personal memoir throws fascinating light not only on the geological surveys and mining projects of the time but on nasser s policy of industrialization of which said was an enthusiastic supporter and the effect on that industrialization of president sadat s open door policy which said sees as a direct outgrowth of the acute financial crisis brought on by the 1973 october war said is critical of sadat s decision to prioritize tourism and the service industries at the expense of manufacturing industry and relates how this together with increasing corruption from the mid 1970s onward forced him to resign the culmination of the crisis came in 1981 when just weeks before his assassination sadat ordered the arrest of said and some 1 500 other public religious and political figures as a man trusted and respected by nasser said is in a privileged position to give an eyewitness account of many important aspects of egypt s recent history but his own history his family education growing self awareness as a copt and wider concerns about copts in egyptian society is also revealing and insightful a personal reflection on a life lived and a source of recent history this book will be of interest to political and economic historians and to anyone interested in what it was like to live through egypt s recent past a number of classical sunnī quran commentaries quote several different types of exegetical materials attributed to a few female figures from the first century a h seventh century c e āthār ḥadīths legal opinions and variant readings as well as lines of poetry in gender and muslim constructions of exegetical authority aisha geissinger provides a comprehensive introduction to such quotations and offers an analysis of their place and significance within the pre modern genre of quran commentary demonstrating that key hermeneutical concepts in classical quranic exegesis tafsīr are gendered bringing together materials which have not previously been examined in detail and utilising gender as a lens through which to study them this work provides a new approach to the study of pre modern tafsīr this work is a translation and study of a ninth through fifteenth century manuscript kitāb al ḥadāyā wa al tuḥaf the manuscript furnishes a wealth of varied information offering insights into the period immediately preceding islam and extending through the first four centuries of islamic rule shortlisted for the arabic booker prize in 2010 this finely constructed epic traces the turbulent life of aisha an egyptian girl raised in a christian convent beyond the reach of a predatory uncle with her english education aisha crosses paths with lord cromer british consul general of egypt and famed archaeologist howard carter with whom she will trek to locate tutankhamen s tomb fate briefly favors aisha when she falls in love with the egyptian sculptor mahmoud mukhtar until events conspire to move her life along a darker path part allegory part magical realism this novel is threaded with aspects of egyptian antiquity including semihistorical accounts of the excavations of ancient egyptian relics and the tortured jealousies that accompanied them a deftly written journey through momentous occasions in world history a cloudy day on the western shore explores questions of egypt s identity and history and the implications for better or worse of european exploitation of the treasures of pharaonic civilization novelist qandil skillfully allows readers to encounter complex questions of colonialism gender and sectarianism all through the symbolic lens of an unlikely egyptian heroine this noble house explores the preoccupation with biblical genealogy that emerged among jews in the islamic near east between the eleventh and fourteenth centuries arnold franklin looks to jewish society s fascination with davidic ancestry examining the profusion of claims to the lineage that had already begun to appear by the year 1000 the attempts to chart the validity of such claims through elaborate genealogical lists and the range of meanings that came to be ascribed to the house of david in this period jews and muslims shared the perception that the davidic line and the noble family of the prophet muhammad were counterparts to one another but captivation with davidic lineage was just one facet of a much broader jewish concern with biblical ancestry based on documentary material from the cairo geniza the book argues that this genealogical turn should be understood as a consequence of jewish society s dynamic encounter with its arab islamic milieu and constituted a selective adaptation to the importance of ancestry in the dominant cultural environment while jewish society surely had genealogical materials and preoccupations of its own upon which to draw the arab islamic regard for tracing the lineage of muhammad provided the impetus for deploying those traditions in new and unprecedented ways on the one hand the increased focus on ancestry is an instance of medieval jews reflexively and unselfconsciously making use of the cultural forms of their muslim neighbors on the other it is an expression of cultural competitiveness or even resistance an implicit response to the claim of arab genealogical superiority that uses the very methods of the arab science of genealogy to be sure franklin notes jews were only one of several non arab minority groups to take up genealogy in this way at the broadest level then this noble house illuminates a strategy that various minority populations utilized as they sought legitimacy within the medieval arab islamic world
