the u s climate change science program ccsp coordinates the efforts of 13 federal agencies to understand why climate is changing to improve predictions about how it will change in the future and to use that information to assess impacts on human systems and ecosystems and to better support decision making evaluating progress of the u s climate change science program is the first review of the ccsp s progress since the program was established in 2002 it lays out a method for evaluating the ccsp and uses that method to assess the strengths and weaknesses of the entire program and to identify areas where progress has not met expectations the committee found that the program has made good progress in documenting and understanding temperature trends and related environmental changes on a global scale as well as in understanding the influence of human activities on these observed changes the ability to predict future climate changes also has improved but efforts to understand the impacts of such changes on society and analyze mitigation and adaptation strategies are still relatively immature the program also has not met expectations in supporting decision making studying regional impacts and communicating with a wider group of stakeholders
