in the grand scheme of things you ll be dead a lot longer than you ll ever be alive the last thing laken stewart remembers is the oncoming car then bursting through the windshield two months dissolve without her knowledge and she finds herself in unfamiliar surroundings with strangers who not only profess to know her but insist she's someone else entirely. Laken discovers her long dead boyfriend Wesley has been thrown into this alternate world as well. He is quick to inform her she suffered a horrible fall and that her memory hasn't fully returned. According to Wesley, the other life she had, her name, her family, they were simply a side effect of her brain trauma. In her quest for answers, she meets Cooper Flanders, the son of her psychiatrist who readily believes every word she says. Laken Stewart knows she died on that hot July afternoon, but now she's alive. Or is she?

volume 11 brings together all of dewey s writings for 1918 and 1919 a modern language association committee on scholarly editions textual edition dewey s dominant theme in these pages is war and its aftermath in the introduction oscar and lillian handlin discuss his philosophy within the historical context the first world war slowly ground to its costly conclusion and the immensely more difficult task of making peace got painfully under way the armistice that some expected would permit a return to normalcy opened instead upon a period of turbulence that agitated further a society already unsettled by preparations for battle and by debilitating conflict overseas after spending the first half of 1918-19 on sabbatical from Columbia at the University of California. Dewey traveled to Japan and China where he lectured, toured, and assessed. In his essays, the relationship between the two nations from Peking he reported the student revolt known as the May Fourth Movement. The forty items in this volume also include an analysis of Thomas Hobbes's philosophy, an affectionate commemorative tribute to Theodore Roosevelt, our Teddy, the syllabus for Dewey's lectures at the Imperial University in Tokyo which were later revised and published as Reconstruction in Philosophy, an exchange with former disciple Randolph Bourne about format, Thias Alexander's man's supreme inheritance, and central to Dewey's creed: philosophy and democracy. His involvement in a study of the Polish American community in Philadelphia resulting in an article, two memoranda, and a lengthy report is discussed in detail in the introduction and in the note on the confidential report of conditions among the Poles in the United States.

Joseph Addison Tercentenary Essays is a collection of fifteen essays by a team of internationally recognized experts specially commissioned to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of Addison's death in 2019, almost exclusively known now as the inventor and main author of The Spectator, probably the most widely read and imitated prose work of the eighteenth century. Addison also produced important and influential work across a broad gamut of other literary modes: poems, verse translations, literary criticism, periodical journalism, drama, opera, travel writing. Much of this work is little known nowadays even in specialist academic circles. Addison is often described as the most neglected of the eighteenth century's major writers. This volume is the first collection to address the full range and variety of Addison's career and writings. Its fifteen chapters fall into three groupings: the first set study Addison's work in modes other than the literary: periodical, poetry, translation, travel writing, drama; the second set address The Spectator from a variety of disciplinary perspectives: literary, critical, sociological, and political; bibliographical and the final set explore Addison's reception within several cultural spheres: philosophy, horticulture, art history, by individual writers or across larger historical periods: the Romantic Age, the Victorian Age, and in Britain and Europe, especially France. The volume provides an overdue and appropriately diverse memorial to one of the dominant men of letters of the Georgian era.
