Now to be upfront with you, the condition known as asthma is a chronic and incurable disease which affects the respiratory system in the human body. However, they have some certain triggers such as that of environmental triggers that is able to heighten the knack for an asthma attack. Indeed, asthma is as we speak one of the most common types of respiratory disorder which is also referred to as bronchial asthma. In other words, it is a condition where the airways in the lungs become blocked, inflamed, and constricted with excess mucus that usually results in breathing difficulties. Even though asthma is a recurring disease with no form of curability at this present time and age, however, there are different forms of asthma treatment that are prescribed to asthmatics, especially those with a particularly severe case. Nonetheless, an asthma attack should not be taken lightly as it can begin at any age. Yes, over the last few decades, asthma has become the biggest health issue affecting a major part of the world's population and as a matter of fact, some of the common asthma triggers can include GERD, gastroesophageal reflux disease, exercise, inhaling dry and cold air, smoke from tobacco, pets, upper respiratory infections, pollen, dust, and mold, mites. Now having said this, the common symptoms associated with asthma include shortness of breath, pain or tight feeling in the chest, noisy breathing or wheezing, and coughing. On the other hand, recurrent symptoms of asthma frequently cause reduced activity levels, daytime fatigue, and sleeplessness among others. Therefore, avoiding the risk factors that result in asthma symptoms is indeed an important strategy to reducing the occurrence of an attack. Hence, in the light of the above, it is advisable to avoid dusty, moldy, smoky conditions or environment. Though these days there are a couple of natural remedies for treating asthma in spite of the fact that it is incurable, asthma is a chronic disease of the airways in the lungs and the respiratory system that can affect people of all ages but often starts in childhood. The airways are always inflamed in case you have asthma. Asthma causes swelling of the airways, this results in narrowing of the airways that carry air from the nose and mouth to the lungs. Asthma is a disease that affects the lungs. Main cause is allergy which causes repeated episodes of wheezing, breathlessness, chest tightness, coughing, bronchitis, common cold, strep throat, sore throat, tonsillitis, laryngitis, cough, pharyngitis, and asthma. This book, Asthma: A Perfect Home Remedies is the perfect resource for patients and their families to understand, prevent, and manage all the diseases mentioned here. Tired of watching her husband suffer with lifelong asthma and disgusted with western doctors laughing literally when he asked about an asthma cure or natural options, Linda Rubright set out to find her own answers and found 14 people who cured asthma. The 14 former asthmatics she found had completely eliminated all of their asthmatic symptoms and need for any asthma medication for themselves, their children, and their patients and not just for hours or days but for months, years, and decades. The asthma cures these 14 people used involved many things including lifestyle improvements, diet changes, alternative therapies, supplements, and more. Some needed to work with unresolved grief, others used some very unconventional yet highly effective alternative therapies. Some took days, months, or years to cure their asthma. One woman cured her asthma in 90 minutes. Not one used any gimmicks in finding their asthma cure regardless of their individual journeys to find an asthma cure. They all arrived at the same destination: a life without asthma. Many are demanding to know more about how to feel better, look better, and live longer and healthier lives. In this book, readers will find helpful alternative medical information together with uplifting and faith-building biblical truths for men, women, and children who suffer from this disorder.
