thomson independent scholar writing of the biographical dictionary of film aka a biographical dictionary of the cinema 1975 edition described it as a personal opinionated and obsessive biographical dictionary of the cinema thirty five years and several editions later that description still holds true of this expanded work the new dictionary summarizes salient facts about its subjects lives and discusses their film credits in terms of the quality of the filmmakers work in ambition it has competitors including leslie halliwell s various editions of halliwell s filmgoers companion 12th ed 1997 and halliwell s who s who in the movies edited by john walker 4th ed rev and updated 2006 which cover films and technical terms categories not included in thomson

s but whose entries are neutral and exceedingly brief additionally francophile richard roud s edited cinema a critical dictionary the major filmmakers 2 v 1980 is as passionate a work as thomson s but narrower in scope with entries written by various experts rather than only by roud finally the multivolume magnum opus the international dictionary of films and filmmakers 4th ed 2000 ed by t pendergast and s pendergast 2nd ed ed by n thomas v 1 ch may 91 1st ed ed by c lyon v 1 2 ch jan 85 v 3 ch apr 87 v 4 5 ch jun 88 covers everything films directors actors writers and production artists with generous measured scholarly entries and lavish illustrations however it looms large and heavy unlike the handy one volume work by thomson arguably thomson s work for its scope is the most fun the most convenient and the most engaging title all libraries supporting people interested in film should buy it it will get lots of use and provide very good value for the money summing up highly recommended lower level undergraduates and above general readers general readers lower division undergraduates upper division undergraduates graduate students researchers faculty professionals practitioners reviewed by c hendershott

in the earliest years of cinema travelogues were a staple of variety film programs in commercial motion picture theaters these short films also known as scenics depicted tourist destinations and exotic landscapes otherwise inaccessible to most viewers scenics were so popular that they were briefly touted as the future of film but despite their pervasiveness during the early twentieth century travelogues have been overlooked by film historians and critics in education in the school of dreams jennifer lynn peterson recovers this lost archive through innovative readings of travelogues and other nonfiction films exhibited in the united states between 1907 and 1915 she offers fresh insights into the aesthetic and commercial history of early cinema and provides a new perspective on the intersection of american culture imperialism and modernity in the nickelodeon era peterson describes the travelogue's characteristic form and style and demonstrates how imperialist ideologies were realized and reshaped through the moving image she argues that although educational films were intended to legitimate filmgoing for middle class audiences travelogues were not simply vehicles for elite ideology as a form of instructive entertainment these technological moving landscapes were both formulaic and also wondrous and dreamlike considering issues of spectatorship and affect peterson argues that scenics produced and disrupted viewers complacency about their own place in the world
