the cayuga are one of the original five nations of the haudenosaunee confederacy a powerful alliance of native american tribes in the northeast inhabiting much of the land in what is now central new york state when their nation was destroyed in the sullivan clinton campaign of 1779 the cayuga endured 200 years of displacement as a result relatively little is known about the location organization or ambience of their ancestral villages perched on a triangular finger of land against steep cliffs the sixteenth century village of corey represents a rare source of knowledge about the cayuga past transforming our understanding of how this nation lived in corey village and the cayuga world rossen collects data from archaeological investigations of the corey site including artifacts that are often neglected such as nonprojectile lithics and ground stone in contrast with the conventional narrative of a population in constant warfare analysis of the site s structure and materials suggests a peaceful landscape including undefended settlements free movement of people and systematic trade and circulation of goods these findings lead to a broad summary of cayuga archaeological research shedding new light on the age of the haudenosaunee confederacy and the role of the cayuga in the american revolution beyond the comprehensive analysis of artifacts the corey site excavation is significant for its commitment to the practice of indigenous archaeology in which native wisdom oral history collaboration and participation are integral to the research
