staging chinese revolution surveys fifty years of theatrical propaganda performances in china revealing a dynamic commercial capacity in works often dismissed as artifacts of censorship spanning the 1960s through the 2010s xiaomei chen reads films plays operas and television shows from an interdisciplinary and comparative perspective demonstrating how in a socialist state with capitalist characteristics propaganda performance turns biographies memoirs and war stories into mainstream ideological commodities legitimizing the state and its right to rule analyzing propaganda performance also brings contradictions and inconsistencies to light that throw common understandings about propaganda's purpose into question. Chen focuses on revisionist histories that stage the lives of the founding fathers of the Communist Party such as Chen Duxiu, Mao Zedong, and Deng Xiaoping, and the engaging mix of elite and ordinary characters that animate official propaganda in the private and public sphere, taking the form of personal memories and representing star and youth culture and cyberspace. Contemporary Chinese propaganda appeals through multiple perspectives, complicating relations among self, subject, agent, state, building and national identity. Chen treats Chinese performance as an extended form of political theater, confronting critical issues of commemoration, nostalgia, state rituals, and contested history. It is through these reenactments that three generations of revolutionary leaders loom in extraordinary ways over Chinese politics and culture.

This collection of essays examines the promise and limits of social rights in Europe in a time of austerity, presenting in the first instance five national case studies representing the biggest European economies: UK, France, Germany, Italy, and Spain. It offers an account of recent reforms to social welfare and the attempts to resist them through litigation. The case studies are then used as a foundation for theory building about social rights. This second group of chapters develops theory along two complementary lines: first, they explore the dynamics between social rights, public law, poverty, and welfare in times of economic crisis; second, they consider the particular significance of the European context for articulations of and struggles over social rights, employing a range and depth of expertise across Europe. The book constitutes a timely and highly significant contribution to socio-legal scholarship about the character and resilience of social rights in our national and regional constitutional settings.
