Trauma, Memory and Transformation 2016-08-05 colonial missionaries both catholic and protestant arrived in india with the grandiose vision of converting the pagans because like st peter acts 4 12 and most of the church fathers they honestly believed that there is no salvation outside the church extra ecclesiam nulla salus at the end of the great protestant century however christians made up less than 3 percent of the population in india and the hope of the missionary was nearly shattered but if one looks at mission in india qualitatively rather than quantitatively one sees a number of positive outcomes missionaries in india particularly protestant missionaries espousing the social gospel in collaboration with a few british evangelical administrators dared to challenge numerous social evils and even began to eradicate them the scientific and liberal english education began to enlighten and transform the indian mindset converts belonging to the upper caste although small in number laid the foundation stone of indian theology and an inculturated church using indian genius the end of colonialism in india coincided with the painful death of colonial mission theology now the power of the word of god extricated from political power is slowly and peacefully gaining ground like the mustard seed of the parable a paradigm shift from the ecclesio centric mission to missio dei offers reason for further optimism in short the future of mission in india is as bright as the kingdom of god in today s new context theologians despite objections from some quarters are struggling to discover the asian face of jesus disfigured by the greco roman church and the missionary is challenged to become a living bible that undoubtedly everyone will read

Perspectives in Sociology 2014-08-21 on november 16 2017 pope francis tweeted poverty is not an accident it has causes that must be recognized and removed for the good of so many of our brothers and sisters with this statement and others like it the first latin american pope was associated in the minds of many with a stream of theology that swept the western hemisphere in the 1960s and 70s the movement known as liberation theology born of chaotic cultural crises in latin america and the united states liberation theology was a trans american intellectual movement that sought to speak for those parts of society marginalized by modern politics and religion by virtue of race class or sex led by such revolutionaries as the peruvian catholic priest gustavo Gutiérrez the african american theologian james cone or the feminists mary daly and rosemary radford ruether the liberation theology movement sought to bridge the gulf between the religious values of justice and equality and political pragmatism it combined theology with strands of radical politics social theory and the history and experience of subordinated groups to challenge the ideas that underwrite the hierarchical structures of an unjust society praised by some as a radical return to early christian ethics and decried by others as a marxist takeover liberation theology has a wide raging cross sectional history that has previously gone undocumented in the world come of age lilian calles barger offers for the first time a systematic retelling of the history of liberation theology demonstrating how a group of theologians set the stage for a torrent of new religious activism that challenged the religious and political status quo
