Journal of the Board of Education of the City of New York 1898 this work traces the impact of a differentiated curriculum on girls education in st louis public schools from 1870 to 1930 its central argument is that the premise upon which a differentiated curriculum is founded that schooling ought to differ among students in order prepare each for his or her place in the social order actually led to academic decline the attention given to the intersection of gender race and social class and its combined effect on girls schooling places this text in the new wave of critical historical scholarship in the field of educational research

Documents of the School Committee of the City of Boston 1895 recommended by choice enterprising youth examines the agenda behind the shaping of nineteenth century children s perceptions and world views and the transmission of civic duties and social values to children by adults the essays in this book reveal the contradictions involved in the perceptions of children as active or passive as representatives of a new order or as receptacles of the transmitted values of their parents the question then is whether the business of telling children s stories becomes an adult enterprise of conservative indoctrination or whether children are enterprising enough to read what many of the contributors to this volume see as the subversive potential of these texts this collection of literary and historical criticism of nineteenth century american children s literature draws upon recent assessments of canon formations gender studies and cultural studies to show how concepts of public private male female and domestic foreign are collapsed to reveal a picture of american childhood and life that is expansive and constrictive at the same time

School Documents [of The] Boston Public Schools 1897 in the early nineteenth century governments introduced kindergartens and infant schools to give children a head start in life these programs hinged on new visions of childhood that origin ated in england and europe but what happened when they were exported to the colonies this book unwinds the tangled threads of this history from early infant schools in england to three commonwealth countries canada australia and new zealand where systems of educating young children were transplanted but adapted to suit local ideas politics and populations this unique comparative approach to the history of early childhood education provides fresh insight into how to reconcile educational theory and practice in an increasingly global world

Girl's Schooling During The Progressive Era 2014-06-03 we like to say that our cities have been shaped by creative destruction the vast powers of capitalism to remake cities but marta gutman shows that other forces played roles in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries as cities responded to industrialization and the onset of modernity gutman focuses on the use and adaptive reuse of everyday buildings and most tellingly she reveals the determinative roles of women and charitable institutions in oakland gutman shows private houses were often adapted for charity work and the betterment of children in the process becoming critical sites for public life and for the development of sustainable social environments gutman makes a strong argument for the centrality of incremental construction and the power of women run organizations to our understanding of modern cities
