in the 1910s both w e b du bois and booker t washington praised the black community in durham north carolina for its exceptional race progress migration urbanization and industrialization had turned black durham from a post civil war liberation community into the capital of the black middle class african americans owned and operated mills factories churches schools and an array of retail services shops community organizations and race institutions using interviews narratives and family stories leslie brown animates the history of this remarkable city from emancipation to the civil rights era as freedpeople and their descendants struggled among themselves and with whites to give meaning to black freedom brown paints durham in the jim crow era as a place of dynamic change where despite common aspirations gender and class conflicts emerged placing african american women at the center of the story brown describes how black durham s multiple constituencies experienced a range of social conditions shifting the historical perspective away from seeing solidarity as essential to effective struggle or viewing dissent as a measure of weakness brown demonstrates that friction among african americans generated rather than depleted energy sparking many activist initiatives on behalf of the black community the closing decades of the twentieth century have been characterized as a period of disruption and discontinuity in which the structure and meaning of economy polity and society have been radically altered in this volume peter drucker focuses with great clarity and perception on the forces of change that are transforming the economic landscape and creating tomorrow's society drucker discerns four major areas of discontinuity underlying contemporary social and cultural reality these are 1 the explosion of new technologies resulting in major new industries 2 the change from an international to a world economy an economy that presently lacks policy theory and institutions 3 a new sociopolitical reality of pluralistic institutions that poses drastic political philosophical and spiritual challenges and 4 the new universe of knowledge based on mass education and its implications in work leisure and leadership peter drucker brings to this work an intimate knowledge and objective view of the particular and general the age of discontinuity is a fascinating and important blueprint for shaping a future already very much with us
