the people vs big oil how a working class company town harnessed the power of local politics to reclaim their community with a foreword by bernie sanders home to one of the largest oil refineries in the state richmond california was once a typical company town dominated by chevron this largely nonwhite working class city of 100 000 suffered from poverty pollution and poorly funded public services it had one of the highest homicide rates per capita in the country and a jobless rate twice the national average but when veteran labor reporter steve early moved from new england to richmond in 2012 he discovered a city struggling to remake itself in refinery town early chronicles the 15 years of successful community organizing that raised the local minimum wage defeated a casino development project challenged home foreclosures and evictions and sought fair taxation of big oil a short list of richmond s activist residents helps to propel this compelling chronicle 94 year old betty reid soskin the country s oldest full time national park ranger and witness to richmond s complex history gayle mclaughlin the green party mayor who challenged chevron and won police chief chris magnus who brought community policing to richmond and is now one of america s leading public safety reformers part urban history part call to action refinery town shows how concerned citizens can harness the power of local politics to reclaim their community and make municipal government a source of much needed policy innovation refinery town provides an inside look at how one american city has made
