Creolizing Culture

in the past few years much theoretical debate has explored several cultural issues in the anglophone caribbean focusing on the central experience of colonialism as well as on the contemporary postcolonial condition and the possible formation of neo colonial configurations some of the constituent traits of the caribbean experience are dealt with in this study such as the relationship between the caribbean and great britain from a cultural and literary perspective in the twentieth century multiculturalism and ethnicity the interplay of orality and literature and an investigation of linguistic issues in particular the creolization of the english language under world influences different strands are brought together in the analysis of sam selvon s london trilogy the lonely londoners moses ascending and moses migrating considering questions of identity for ex colonials in the crucial years between the end of world war ii and the 1980s in britain relationships between european versus african and indian cultural heritage clash of cultures as represented via language ideas of national identity as an imaginative process also reflecting dynamics of power inside society the use of creole represents an ideal clinging to caribbean modes of cultural survival which is also buttressed by the postcolonial contamination of the traditional western bourgeois genre the novel after the colonial demise the genre of the novel mirrors approaches of communication more oral oriented than those linked to western written aesthetic values and the strategies used by selvon are surveyed to show the interrelationships between language power literature and cultural identities the london trilogy is analysed according to linguistic literary and cultural paradigms shedding lights on the relevance of selvon s work for the construction of a culturally independent caribbean literature it is hoped that the present book will prove immensely useful to the students and researchers of english literature concerned with the works of sam selvon while the teachers of the subject will consider it an ideal reference book the general novel of the period was far more diverse and formally experimental than previous accounts have suggested the author of such works as a brighter sun 1952 the lonely londoners 1956 and the plains of caroni 1970 west indian novelist samuel selvon is attracting growing amounts of scholarly attention nonetheless criticism of his works has largely been imbalanced with most scholarship focusing primarily on his language this book corrects that imbalance by placing selvon s novels within historical sociological and ideological contexts a new interpretation of selvon s achievement as a novelist the volume looks for the first time at his works in terms of categories of novels peasant middle class and immigrant the book demonstrates that each category is different from the others and that novels within categories are similar thus it provides a coherent vision of selvon s canon it illustrates as well the development of selvon s philosophy of west indians as peasant bourgeois and immigrant in doing so it explores the significance of ethnicity in his works and discusses selvon s imaginative apotheosis of the indo trinidadian peasant and the diminution of the afro trinidadian immigrant the volume also studies selvon s fictional and rhetorical techniques and argues that his works range from bildungsroman to picaresque to epic to satire

The Novels of Samuel Selvon storyworlds mental models of context and environment within which characters function is a concept used to describe what happens in narrative narratologists agree that the concept of storyworlds best captures the ecology of narrative interpretation by allowing a fuller appreciation of the organization of both space and time by recognizing reading as a process that encourages readers to compare the world of a text to other possible worlds and by highlighting the power of narrative to immerse readers in new and unfamiliar environments focusing on the work of writers from trinidad and nigeria such as sam selvon and ben okri the storyworld accord investigates and compares the storyworlds of nonrealist and postmodern postcolonial texts to show how such narratives grapple with the often collapsed concerns of subjectivity representation and environment bringing together these narratological and ecocritical concerns via a mode that erin james calls econarratology arguing that postcolonial ecocriticism like ecocritical studies has tended to neglect imaginative representations of the environment in postcolonial literatures james
