michael j chan argues on a methodological level for the deeper integration of iconographic materials into the task of tradition history a method that has tended to focus on textual evidence alone following the work of o h steck however tradition is understood in more flexible terms to refer to inherited concepts and constellations which can exist across multiple media the author undertakes a tradition historical study of the wealth of nations tradition a series of texts in which the foreign nations of the earth bring their wealth to zion 1 kgs 10 1 10 13 15 2 chr 9 1 9 12 14 1 kgs 10 23 25 2 chr 9 22 24 pss 68 19 29 32 72 10 11 76 12 96 7 8 1 chr 16 28 29 isa 18 7 45 14 60 4 17 61 5 6 66 12 zeph 3 10 2 chr 32 23 the wealth of nations tradition is found throughout the ancient near east michael j chan shows that in some cases the biblical texts reflect this tradition with little to no modification while in others the tradition is recast in creative and disruptive ways this book advances a cultural perspective on economic development to show that economic success can result from the symbolic resources that nations regions and communities have at their disposal this essay regards the early stages of the debate on disarmament at the end of world war i when the international community intended to limit countries armaments and expenses according to a widespread sentiment in public opinion after a huge moral and physical devastation in 1918 some draft projects of the league of nations covenant were elaborated by the great powers and the original texts demonstrate the initial absence of the matter but as the brainstorming continued the articles regarding the way to disarm appeared even more pregnant the question at stake concerned the reduction of armaments to the lowest point consistent with national defence and the fulfilment of international obligations the abolition of the mandatory conscription the prohibition to earn private profits from the manufacture of arms the control of arms trafficking and the full and frank publicity of military programs in 1919 during the paris peace conference motivated men worked to create an organization forerunner of the united nations with the aim of avoiding future wars in the final version of the covenant some articles to realize disarmament were present and a specific commission to carry on the related duties was established the correspondence between the protagonists shows the difficulties in approaching the issue this study provides a comprehensive analysis of the questions pertaining to the powers of the security council under chapter vii of the charter of the united nations in doing so it departs from the premise that an analysis of the limitations to the powers of the security council and an analysis of judicial review of such limitations by the icj respectively are inter dependent on the one hand judicial review would only become relevant if and to the extent that the powers granted to the security council under chapter vii of the charter are subject to justiciable limitations on the other hand the relevance of any limitation to the powers of the security council would remain limited if it could not be enforced by judicial review this inter dependence is reflected by the fact that chapters 2 and 3 focus on judicial review in advisory and contentious proceedings respectively whereas chapters 4 to 9 examine the limits to the powers of the security council the concluding chapter subsequently illuminates how the respective limits to the security council s enforcement powers could be enforced by judicial review it also explores an alternative mode of review of binding security council decisions that could complement judicial review by the icj notably the right of states to reject illegal security council decisions as a right of last resort the space and attention devoted to the limits to the security council s enforcement powers reflects the second aim of this study namely to provide new direction to this aspect of the debate on the security council s powers under chapter vii of the charter it does so by paying particular attention to the role of human rights norms in limiting the type of enforcement measures that the security council can resort to in order to maintain or restore international peace and security the terms of critical debate in literary and cultural studies in canada have shifted with respect to race nation and difference in asking how indigenous and diasporic interventions have remapped these debates the contributors argue that a new cultural grammar is at work and attempt to sketch out some of the ways it operates the essays reference pivotal moments in canadian literary and cultural history and speak to ongoing debates about canadian nationalism postcolonialism migrancy and transnationalism topics covered include the asian race riots in vancouver in 1907 the cultural memory of internment and dispersal of japanese canadians in the 1940s the politics of migrant labour and the domestic labour scheme in the 1960s and the trial of robert pickton in vancouver in 2007 the contributors are particularly interested in how diaspora and indigeneity continue to contribute to this critical reconfiguration and in how conversations about diaspora and indigeneity in the canadian context have themselves been transformed cultural grammars is an attempt to address both the interconnections and the schisms between these multiply fractured critical terms as well as the larger conceptual shifts that have occurred in response to national and postnational arguments this edited collection examines the role that language has played in forming modern european nations with language an omnipresent issue within the european union the importance languages have played within the histories and present situations of member nations is a crucial topic drawing on an international cast of contributors the book explores the issues of monolingualism vs plurilingualism within individual nations the revival of languages in nations such as former soviet republics and concludes with a look at language in the electronic age
