in the early twentieth century a new american scripture appeared on the scene it was the product of a school of theological thinking known as dispensationalism which offered a striking new way of reading the bible one that focused attention squarely on the end times that scripture the scofield reference bible would become the ur text of american apocalyptic evangelicalism but while the scofield took hold in the united states the belief system from which it emerged dispensationalism was not primarily a homegrown american phenomenon in the americanization of the apocalypse creating america s own bible donald harman akenson examines the creation and spread of dispensationalism the story is a transnational one created in southern ireland by evangelical anglicans who were terrified by the rise of catholicism then transferred to england where it was expanded upon and next carried to british north america by brethren missionaries and then subsequently embraced by american evangelicals akenson combines a respect for individual human agency with an equal recognition of the complex and persuasive ideational system that apocalyptic dispensationalism presented for believers the system explained the world and its future for the wider culture the product of this rich evolution was a series of concepts that became part of the everyday vocabulary of american life end times apocalypse second coming rapture and millennium the americanization of the apocalypse is the first book to document using direct archival evidence the invention of the epochal scofield reference bible and thus the provenance of modern american evangelicalism northeastern hungary was full of places like the village of vaja where jews had farmed for generations naves s ancestors had tilled hungarian soil since the eighteenth century they had married into similar farming families and maintained a lifestyle at once agricultural orthodox and hungariophile the nyirség a sandy slightly undulating region wedged between the great hungarian plain and the foothills of the carpathians was the centre of their world but all this changed irrevocably with the holocaust naves s generation is the first in two centuries whose roots are severed from the soil that once nurtured them naves s quest for her past began with her father one of the few members of a vast extended family to survive the nazi death camps his stories and memories of ancestors were a well spring from which he drew strength and they became an obsession for naves as she was growing up and when she had children of her own journey to vaja is her attempt to record the lives of these ancestors and reclaim their lives as part of her and her children s birthright it incorporates myths and stories with family letters and detailed archival research to provide an extraordinary look at the landscape of memory and a testament to the redemptive power of love and family this well crafted book probes the key dimensions of africa s existential predicament it constitutes an intellectual response to a gnawing african situation the starting point for grasping africa s social and religious quest beyond split explanations of external versus internal factors e g colonization slavery vs leadership cultural values this study accounts more comprehensively for emergent issues shaping this situation the situation reflects a gamut of problems in traditional african religion and material culture which hitherto defines african communality politics and destinies vis à vis the cosmos and nature thus african religion and communities each with its own attendant values do not operate by critical engagement with larger issues of society and civilization especially those shaped by the advent of post modernity rather they operate via adaptation the communal drive for natural and social harmony inevitably produces a preservationist view of culture leaving things as they are this study takes an integrative approach to religion society and civilization eschews dichotomies and broadly defines and re signifies life and wholeness as a true end of africans quest today
