Some Impartial Thoughts on the Wollen Manufacturies, wherein the merits of the several pieces wrote on this subject within these few years are occasionally considered. With remarks upon Mr. Webber's scheme, and other schemes for preventing the exportation of British and Irish Wooll. By George-Andrew-Patrick-Briton 1742 why are we so obsessed with staying young in a culture that advocates the pursuit of endless youth and physical beauty how can we embrace the reality the pleasures and the rewards of getting on and what does the fight against ageing mean when all women must eventually face the double standard of ageism and sexism once past fifty older women begin to sense that they have become invisible from the visual displays in the mall to the pages of magazines and the television screens at the heart of our homes young women with perfect skin bouncy enhanced breasts pouting lips long straight hair and perfect teeth gaze down on us the ageing population is traditionally viewed as a problem a drain on financial resources health housing and community services and a burden on younger generations but living longer and living well are the triumphs of a civilised society it is also the future that all generations want for themselves can we change the conversation on ageing getting old is tough but it s also an opportunity to celebrate how far we have come and to shape a different future in this essay liz byrski author of last chance café and bad behaviour examines the adventure of growing old in the twenty first century the new possibilities the joy and the sorrow of solitude the reality of grief and loss and the satisfaction of having travelled so far writers like byrski are needed not only for the clarity of their emotional intelligence but for the courage of their political convictions west australian
