ftse100 and lufthansa is listed in the german stock index dax these companies have been chosen because they belong to the continent s biggest airlines and a direct comparison seems to be feasible the gearing ratios have been calculated using data from the companies annual reports from 2015 onwards the report found that easyjet has always had a lower gearing ratio than lufthansa and consequently a more stable less risky financial position moreover the report found that the accounting policies of both companies are the same and thus the interpretation of results is not distorted however the report also found that the tone of easyjet s narrative reporting is more optimistic which is likely to influence the reader s opinion in its favour limitations are the small sample size the short time span and that only one ratio is analysed consequently results cannot be generalised moreover financial ratios do not provide a benchmark that s why an analysis of the industry average had been conducted as well
