technical textbooks and the requirements of the typical hobbyist in order to simplify this gap to the absolute minimum technical terms were substituted with their equivalent but simpler terms and many photographs drawings and tables were included the book covers topics such as curing and making brines smoking meats and sausages u s standards making fresh smoked emulsified fermented and air dried products making special sausages such as head cheeses blood and liver sausages low salt low fat and kosher products hams bacon butts and loins poultry fish and game creating your own recipes and much making meat products and sausages although recipes play an important role in these products it is the process that ultimately decides the sausage quality it is perfectly clear that the authors don t want the reader to copy the recipes only we want him to understand the sausage making process and we want him to create his own recipes we want him to be the sausage maker this book provides readers with a timely snapshot of ergonomics research and methods applied to the design development and evaluation of products systems and services it gathers theoretical contributions case studies and reports on technical interventions focusing on a better understanding of human machine interaction and user experience for improving product design the book covers a wide range of established and emerging topics in user centered design relating to design for special populations design education workplace assessment and design anthropology ergonomics of buildings and urban design sustainable design as well as visual ergonomics and interdisciplinary research and practices among others based on the ahfe 2021 international conference on ergonomics in design held virtually on 25 29 july 2021 from usa the book offers a thought provoking guide for both researchers and practitioners in human centered design and related fields based on a bestselling book originally published in japanese research carried out at hiroshima university the book delves into the authors decades of experience transferring technology between japan and the rest of the world particularly to developing countries from where much of the world s future economic growth is expected it contains case studies of successful technology transfers from both the ship building and food equipment industries its wide reaching coverage examines methods of skill transfer production management and manufacturing company classification introducing readers to the engineering activities that occur within the manufacturing industry the book illustrates the engineering technology activities involved in manufacturing along with the production management activities required to support them it also explains how job simulators can help shorten learning times in the manufacturing industry in the same way that flight simulators are used to teach flying skills to pilots the book outlines a framework for teaching and learning processes that can be visualized in terms of an s shaped learning curve it explains how technology transfer overseas should be supported by contractual agreements between the parties concerned detailing the legal contractual responsibilities for all parties involved it also describes what you should do if problems arise during the transfer integrating previously unpublished research results with illustrative case studies this book is suitable for a wide audience within the manufacturing industry including manufacturing engineering students in both developed
