Segregation, Inequality, and Urban Development 2021-12-10 in present day south africa urban development agendas have inscribed doctrines of desirable and undesirable life in city spaces and the public that uses the space this book studies the ways in which segregated city spaces displacement of people from their homes and criminalization practices are structured and executed sara dehkordi shows that these doctrines are being legitimized and legalized as part of a discursive practice and that the criminalization of lower class members are part of that practice not as random policing techniques of individual security forces but as a technology of power that attends to the body zooms in on it screens it and interrogates it

urban dwellings haitian citizenships explores the failed international reconstruction of port au prince after the devastating 2010 earthquake it describes the failures of international aid in haiti while it analyzes examples of haitian based reconstruction and economic practices by interrogating the relationship between indigenoues uses of the cityscape and the urbanization of the countryside within a framework that centers on the violence of urban planning the book shows that the forms of economic development promoted by international agencies institutionalize impermanence and instability conversely it shows how everyday haitians use and transform the city to create spaces of belonging and forms of citizenship anchored in a long history of resistance to extractive economies taking readers into the remnants of failed industrial projects in haitian provinces and into the streets rubble and homes of port au prince this book reflects on the possibilities and meanings of dwelling in post disaster urban landscapes

The Length of Days 2023-07-26

the length of days an urban ballad is set mostly in the composite donbas city of z an uncanny foretelling of what this letter has come to symbolize since february 24 2022 when russia launched a full scale invasion of ukraine several embedded narratives attributed to an alcoholic chemist turned massage therapist give insight into the funny ironic or tragic lives of people who remained in the occupied donbas after russia s initial aggression in 2014 with elements of magical realism volodymyr rafeyenko s novel combines a wicked sense of humor with political analysis philosophy poetry and moral interrogation witty references to popular culture ukrainian and european underline the international and transnational aspects of ukrainian literature the novel ends on the hopeful note that even death cannot have the final word the resilient inhabitants of z grow in power through reincarnation

Creativity from Suburban Nowheres 2007-05

looking at suburbs as places of creativity gives rise to novel and thought provoking narratives that typically run counter to the idea that suburbs are sites of ordinary mundane and everyday practices far from being geographies of nowhere dull materialistic and monotone suburbs are unpacked as being heterogeneous and historically layered places of living work and creation situating creativity in place and time creativity from suburban nowheres displaces mainstream understandings of creativity and widespread stereotypes commonly associated with the suburbs contributors explore the particular forms of creativity that suburbs elicit both in the process of their making materialization and community construction and in the myriad ways in which suburbs are inhabited and experienced they highlight accounts of suburbs as places that give people the space and latitude to shape individual and collective identities through creative practices at odds with mainstream culture and often remote from the classic agglomeration assets associated with inner cities anchored in historical and geographical research this volume highlights how and in what forms creativity should be understood in the suburbs why and when creativity can be found and how the notion of suburban creativity overthrows ingrained and dominant normative viewpoints rather than seeing creativity arise despite its suburban location creativity from suburban nowhere illuminates the emancipatory potential of suburbs for creativity

the first academic work to provide an historical account and explanation of the development of this extended region to the east of johannesburg since its origins at the end of the nineteenth century from the time of the discovery of gold and coal until the turn of the twenty first century the region comprised a number of distinctive towns all with their own histories in 2000

these towns were amalgamated into a single metropolitan area but unlike its counterparts across the country it does not cohere around a single identity drawing on a significant body of academic work as well as original research by the authors the book traces and examines some of the salient historical strands that constituted what was formerly known as the east rand and suggests that notwithstanding important differences between towns and the racial fragmentation generated by apartheid the region s history contains significant common features arguably its centrality as a major mining area and then as the country s engineering heartland gave ekurhuleni an overarching distinctive economic character
