the new novel from david baddiel comedian columnist and author of the critically praised the secret purposes in new york s mt sinai hospital the world s greatest living writer eli gold is dying witnessing his death are his precocious 8 year old daughter by his present fifth wife his anxiety ridden 44 year old son from his third marriage and his 89 year old first wife watching on tv from a care home in london and also secretly his fourth wife s fundamentalist mormon brother who has never got over his sister s death in a suicide pact with eli a suicide pact that eli survived the death of eli gold is a comedy a thriller and a meditation on love death aging sex fame and the idea the dying idea of the great man life for ed had always been routine he becomes aware of his surroundings suffers horribly then dies seems terrible for me and you but for ed it is all he has ever known for centuries he has repeated the cycle of life and death he calls himself a re incarnater his entire purpose for existing is to die always as someone else then start again he can recall each and every one of his deaths with vivid clarity however something s gone wrong terribly wrong and he now finds himself unable to die immortality may sound wonderful but for ed it is a curse and the only way to lift the curse is to remember what it was he s done in the past to tip the scales against him and set them right to make matters worse he is currently occupying the body of a 98 year old man living in a nursing home he has no knowledge of this person s history or family and unless he can figure out what he did wrong he will be stuck in this body forever there is just one he has found he can trust to help a night worker named francis who struggles with the possibility that what ed says may be the truth a good death was as central to methodism as conversion and holiness based on an analysis of 1 200 obituaries this book contributes to an understanding not only of death but of the history of methodist and evangelical nonconformist piety theology social background and literary expression in mid nineteenth century england and focuses on the tension in nonconformist allegiance to both worldly and spiritual matters death has long been a pre occupation of philosophers and this is especially so today the oxford handbook of philosophy of death collects 21 newly commissioned essays that cover current philosophical thinking of death related topics across the entire range of the discipline these include metaphysical topics such as the nature of death the possibility of an afterlife the nature of persons and how our thinking about time affects what we think about death as well as axiological topics such as whether death is bad for its victim what makes it bad to die what attitude it is fitting to take towards death the possibility of posthumous harm and the desirability of immortality the contributors also explore the views of ancient philosophers such as aristotle plato and epicurus on topics related to the philosophy of death and questions in normative ethics such as what makes killing wrong when it is wrong and whether it is wrong to kill fetuses non human animals combatants in war and convicted murderers with chapters written by a wide range of experts in metaphysics ethics and conceptual analysis and designed to give the reader a comprehensive view of recent developments in the philosophical study of death this handbook will appeal to a broad audience in philosophy particularly in ethics and metaphysics a book of death might seem a strange and dubious venture a book for no one or since the subject the editor suggests is of exceptionally common concern a book for everyone meditation on death though it seems depressing to many is essential for our salvation death is the one journey every man must go through alone it is the one thing that sobers us all and can set us on a more resolute path to holiness but this path only begins after facing the reality of death for to avoid it only increases our fear in this popular abridgment of his monumental preparation for death st alphonsus teaches us the proper attitude toward death which is one of readiness of always having our debts cleared each chapter is a short consideration with three points easily understood by laity in all states of life each point is followed by meditations and prayers for perseverance in our efforts to lead good lives to aid busy priests in their sermons st alphonsus purposely included texts from scripture and passages from the holy fathers personally selected by the saint himself to touch the heart of every reader and listener st alphonsus shows us how death is on the natural level a great sorrow but on the supernatural level a great gift understanding it as a gift and implementing this knowledge in our lives is the lesson of each powerful meditation this book is a wonderful way to enhance your lenten devotions and gain a more profound gratitude for christ s victory over death and hell through his crucifixion and resurrection in time and death carol white articulates a vision of martin heidegger s work which grows out of a new understanding of what he was trying to address in his discussion of death acknowledging that the discussion of this issue in heidegger s major work being and time is often far from clear white presents a new interpretation of heidegger which short circuits many of the traditional criticisms white claims that we are all in a better position to understand heidegger s insights after fifty years because they have now become a part of the conventional wisdom of common opinion his view shows up in accounts of knowledge in the physical sciences in the assumptions of the social sciences in art and film even in popular culture in general but does so in ways ignorant of their origins now that these insights have filtered down into the culture at large we can make heidegger intelligible in a way that perhaps he himself could not white presents the best possible case for heidegger making him more intelligible to those people with a long acquaintance with his work those with a long aversion to it and in particular to those just starting to pursue an interest in it white places the problems with which heidegger is dealing in the context of issues in contemporary anglo american philosophy in order to better locate him for the more mainstream audience the language and approach of the book is able to accommodate the novice but also offers much food for thought for the heidegger scholar through the valley of the shadow of death is a dramatic and sustained response to decades of research into near death experiences ndes the first to credibly bridge the gap between the competing factions of science and spirituality the oxford handbook of the archaeology of death and burial reviews the current state of mortuary archaeology and its practice highlighting its often contentious place in the modern socio politics of archaeology it contains forty four chapters which focus on the history of the discipline and its current scientific techniques and methods written by leading international scholars in the field it derives its examples and case studies from a wide range of time periods such as the middle palaeolithic to the twentieth century and geographical areas which include europe north and south america africa and asia combining up to date knowledge of relevant archaeological research with critical assessments of the theme and an evaluation of future research trajectories it draws attention to the social symbolic and theoretical aspects of interpreting mortuary archaeology the volume is well illustrated with maps plans photographs and illustrations and is ideally suited for students and researchers in the life and death of adolf hitler biographer robert payne unravels the tangled threads of hitler s public and private life and looks behind the caricature with the charlie chaplin mustache and the unruly shock of hair to reveal a hitler possessed of immense personal charm that impressed both men and women and brought followers and contributions to the burgeoning nazi party although he misread his strength and organized an ill fated putsch hitler spent his months in prison writing mein kampf which increased his following once in undisputed command of the party hitler renounced the chastity of his youth and began a sordid affair with his niece whose suicide prompted him to reject forever all conventional morality he promised anything to prospective supporters then cold bloodedly murdered them before they could claim a share of the power he reserved for himself once he became chancellor hitler step by step bent the powers of the state to his own purposes to satisfy his private fantasies rearming germany slaughtering his real or imaginary enemies blackmailing one by one the leaders of europe and plunging the world into the holocaust of world war ii the life and death of adolf hitler is the story of not so much a man corrupted by power as a corrupt man who achieved absolute power and used it to an unprecedented degree knowing at every moment exactly what he was doing and calculating his enemies weaknesses to a hair s breadth it is the story of a living man the forms by which a deceased person may be brought to rest are as many as there are causes of death in most societies the disposal of the corpse is accompanied by some form of celebration or ritual which may range from a simple act of deportment in solitude to the engagement of large masses of people in laborious and creative festivities in a funerary context the term ritual may be taken to represent a process that incorporates all the actions performed and thoughts expressed in connection with a dying and dead person from the preparatory pre death stages to the final deposition of the corpse and the post mortem stages of grief and commemoration the contributions presented here are focused not on the examination of different funerary practices their function and meaning but on the changes of such rituals how and when they occurred and how they may be explained based on case studies from a range of geographical regions and from different prehistoric and historical periods a range of key themes are examined concerning belief and ritual body and deposition place performance and commemoration exploring a complex web of practices winners of the accentuate writers short story contest present their own else remainedto be unearthed cicero not herod ordered the massacre of the innocents wise men from the east visited augustus its all there for the digging death gender and ethnicity examines the ways in which gender and ethnicity shape the experiences of dying and bereavement taking as its focus the diversity of ways through which the universal event of death is encountered it brings together accounts of how these experiences are actually managed with analyses of a range of representations of dying and grieving in order to provide a more theoretical approach to the relationship between death gender and ethnicity though death and dying have been an increasingly important focus for academics and clinicians over the last thirty years much of this work provides little insight into the impact of gender and ethnicity on the experience the result is often a universalising representation which fails to take account of the personally unique and culturally specific experiences associated with a death drawing on a range of detailed case studies death gender and ethnicity develops a more sensitive theoretical approach which will be invaluable reading for students and practitioners in health studies sociology social work and medical anthropology challenging assumptions about caregiving for those dying of chronic illness what is it like to live with and love someone whose death while delayed is nevertheless foretold in living in death s shadow emily k abel an expert on the history of death and dying examines memoirs written between 1965 and 2014 by family members of people who died from chronic disease in earlier eras death generally occurred quickly from acute illnesses but as chronic disease became the major cause of mortality many people continued to live with terminal diagnoses for months and even years illuminating the excruciatingly painful experience of coping with a family member s extended fatal illness abel analyzes the political personal cultural and medical dimensions of these struggles the book focuses on three significant developments that transformed the experiences of those dying and their intimates the passage of medicare and medicaid the growing use of high tech treatments at the end of life and the rise of a movement to humanize the care of dying people it questions the exalted value placed on acceptance of mortality as well as the notion that it is always better to die at home than in an institution ultimately living in death s shadow emphasizes the need to shift attention from the drama of death to the entire course of a serious chronic disease the chapters follow a common narrative of life threatening disease learning the diagnosis deciding whether to enroll in a clinical trial acknowledging or struggling against the limits of medicine receiving care at home and in a hospital or nursing home and obtaining palliative and hospice care living in death s shadow is essential reading for everyone seeking to understand what it means to live with someone suffering from a chronic fatal condition including cancer aids alzheimer s and heart disease edwin stood on the bank for a long while watching the elder gentleman splash in the water he waited patiently for some time hoping the old man would return to the edge of the stream to reclaim the tunic lying on the rocks finally he realized the old monk was waiting to see if this newcomer would enter the cold stream to join him edwin gritted his teeth and removed all his clothing except for a loincloth and stepped slowly into the cold water he sucked in his breath quickly as the cold was immediate piercing him to the bone as he moved forward into the stream he finally reached the old man and voiced an incoherent hello in a tibetan dialect there was no reply and the oldster turned toward the bank and the clothing ignoring edwin giving no indication he d heard his words rasske called out again as the old man slowly continued his way among the boulders toward the bank to reclaim his tunic finally he splashed and stumbled to reach the old monk and grasped his arm and cried out old man please do not walk away from me i have travelled halfway across the world to find you and to learn truth from you please he begged teeth chattering uncontrollably from the penetrating coldness of the water the aged monk turned swiftly and grasped edwin by the nape of the neck in a fierce grip forcing his head under the water of the stream as he thrashed about in the water he could not break the grip of steel soon his life flashed before his eyes and he could feel his life ebbing away the old man loosened the hold on his neck and held edwin s head up as he retched and gagged for air fame wealth power and fleeting pleasures are transient and have no eternal value doing the will of god is enduring and is what really count forever we are all presently on a journey through life that will end in death but we can make it a journey from death to life abundant by living it with yahweh god and in him jesus christ the only perfect man has made this possible in changes are followed through the first four centuries of the Christian era a brief look at developments since highlight the Christian church's continued influence on the Western European knowledge base here you can check out your own mindset against factors that are still crazily influential the cover illustration is of a restored cult figure of Augustus one of thousands destroyed by Christian zealots let loose in 395 most of the hood of the toga of Pontifex Maximus is missing this example is at Thyatira to where John sent a copy of his Revelations all seven churches of the Apocalypse were in the Roman province of Asia just off the coast is the island of Samos where Augustus lived when he was in the area Patmos where John wrote his Revelations during his exile there is a bit further out in the Aegean Sea the reverse of an Augustan aureus on the spine shows the winged Victory standing on the globe that Augustus had installed as centerpiece of the Roman Curia it was carried at his funeral to lead the procession from the Forum to his Mausoleum at the end of the fourth century it was removed from the Curia and reinstated three times finally Ambrosius Bishop of Milan insisted it be taken out and utterly destroyed Rome and the world of Rome collapsed shortly afterwards Augustus last 100 days were extremely busy he was supposed to have suffered from the weariness of old age before then but after official functions in Rome he went to Capri for a few days then on to the games in Naples where he indulged in horse play with the athletes and on to Beneventum to review his armies before they set off to war his death at the old family home at Nola is well documented down to time and day it's the year that's in dispute here Christian historians strove to prove Jesus was the Messiah by his date of birth they also wanted to know when the second coming of Christ would occur in the process they had to alter the date of Augustus' death much was destroyed to cover their tracks fortunately enough remains in the debris to reconstruct the real chronology of the period surprisingly much else remained to be unearthed Cicero not Herod ordered the massacre of the innocents wise men from the East visited Augustus it's all there for the digging

Death, Gender, and Ethnicity examines the ways in which gender and ethnicity shape the experiences of dying and bereavement taking as its focus the diversity of ways through which the universal event of death is encountered it brings together accounts of how these experiences are actually managed with analyses of a range of representations of dying and grieving in order to provide a more theoretical approach to the relationship between death, gender, and ethnicity though death and dying have been an increasingly important focus for academics and clinicians over the last thirty years much of this work provides little insight into the impact of gender and ethnicity on the experience the result is often a universalising representation which fails to take account of the personally unique and culturally specific experiences associated with a death drawing on a range of detailed case studies Death, Gender, and Ethnicity develops a more sensitive theoretical approach which will be invaluable reading for students and practitioners in health studies sociology social work and medical anthropology challenging assumptions about caregiving for those dying of chronic illness what is it like to live with and love someone whose death while delayed is nevertheless foretold in living in death's shadow Emily K. Abel an expert on the history of death and dying examines memoirs written between 1965 and 2014 by family members of people who died from chronic disease in earlier eras death generally occurred quickly from acute illnesses but as chronic disease became the major cause of mortality many people continued to live with terminal diagnoses for months and even years illuminating the excruciatingly painful experience of coping with a family member's extended fatal illness Abel analyzes the political personal cultural and medical dimensions of these struggles the book focuses on three significant developments that transformed the experiences of those dying and their intimates the passage of Medicare and Medicaid the growing use of high tech treatments at the end of life and the rise of a movement to humanize the care of dying people it questions the exalted value placed on acceptance of mortality as well as the notion that it is always better to die at home than in an institution ultimately living in death's shadow emphasizes the need to shift attention from the drama of death to the entire course of a serious chronic disease the chapters follow a common narrative of life threatening disease learning the diagnosis deciding whether to enroll in a clinical trial acknowledging or struggling against the limits of medicine receiving care at home and in a hospital or nursing home and obtaining palliative and hospice care living in death's shadow is essential reading for everyone seeking to understand what it means to live with someone suffering from a chronic fatal condition including cancer aids alzheimer's and heart disease edwin stood on the bank for a long while watching the elder gentleman splash in the water he waited patiently for some time hoping the old man would return to the edge of the stream to reclaim the tunic lying on the rocks finally he realized the old monk was waiting to see if this newcomer would enter the cold stream to join him edwin gritted his teeth and removed all his clothing except for a loincloth and stepped slowly into the cold water he sucked in his breath quickly as the cold was immediate piercing him to the bone as he moved forward into the stream he finally reached the old man and voiced an incoherent hello in a tibetan dialect there was no reply and the oldster turned toward the bank and the clothing ignoring edwin giving no indication he'd heard his words raskke called out again as the old man slowly continued his way among the boulders toward the bank to reclaim his tunic finally he splashed and stumbled to reach the old monk and grasped his arm and cried out old man please do not walk away from me i have travelled halfway across the world to find you and to learn truth from you please he begged teeth chattering uncontrollably from the penetrating coldness of the water the aged monk turned swiftly and grasped edwin by the nape of the neck in a fierce grip forcing his head under the water of the stream as he thrashed about in the water he could not break the grip of steel soon his life flashed before his eyes and he could feel his life ebbing away the old man loosened the hold on his neck and held edwin's head up as he retched and gagged for air

an absolutely magnificent book the new republic the fruit of almost two decades of study that traces the changes in western attitudes toward death and dying from the earliest christian times to the present day a truly landmark study the hour of our death reveals a pattern of gradually developing evolutionary stages in our perceptions of life in relation to death each stage representing a virtual redefinition of human nature starting at the very foundations of western culture the eminent historian phillipe ariès shows how from graeco roman times through the first ten centuries of the common era death was too common to be frightening each life was quietly subordinated to the community which paid its respects and then moved on ariès identifies the first major shift in attitude with the turn of the eleventh century when a sense of individuality began to rise and with it profound consequences death no longer meant merely the weakening of community but rather the destruction of self hence the growing fear of the afterlife new conceptions of the last judgment and the first attempts by masses and other rituals to guarantee a better life in the next world in the 1500s attention shifted from the demise of the self to that of the loved one as family supplants community and by the nineteenth century death comes to be viewed as simply a staging post toward reunion in the hereafter finally ariès shows why death has become such an unendurable truth in our own century how it has been nearly banished from our daily lives and points out what may be done to re tame this secret terror the richness of ariès s source material and investigative work is breathtaking while exploring everything from churches religious rituals and graveyards with their often macabre headstones and monuments to wills and testaments love letters literature paintings diaries town plans crime and sanitation reports and grave robbing complaints ariès ranges across europe to russia on the one hand and to england and america on the other as he sorts out the tangled mysteries of our accumulated terrors and beliefs we come to understand the history indeed the pathology of our intellectual and psychological tensions in the face of death
