the original prose version of master olof which is here presented for the first time in english form was written between june 8 and august 8 1872 while strindberg then only twenty three years old was living with two friends on one of the numerous little islands that lie between stockholm and the open sea up to that time he had produced half a dozen plays one of which had been performed at the royal theatre of stockholm and had won him the good will and financial support of king carl xv thus he had been able to return to the university of upsala whence he had been driven a year earlier by poverty as well as by spiritual revolt during his second term of study at the old university strindberg wrote some plays that he subsequently destroyed in the same period he not only conceived the idea later developed in master olof but he also acquired the historical data underlying the play and actually began to put it into dialogue during that same winter of 1871 72 he read extensively although his reading probably had slight reference to the university curriculum the two works that seem to have taken the lion s share of his attention were goethe s youthful drama goetz von berlichingen and buckle s history of civilization

this book aims to locate and draw out resonances of impressionism in swedish and finland swedish prose at the end of the nineteenth century a field hitherto overlooked in the critical debate on literary impressionism in order to frame the many alternative approaches to this issue it examines the use of the term literary impressionism not only on the scandinavian scene but also in an international context by focussing on three landmark discussions in the nordic countries herman bang the kristiania bohème august strindberg an inclusive wide ranging scandinavian understanding of the relationship between impressionism and literature is advanced the texts chosen for closer scrutiny disclose this extensive interpretation of impressionist writing helena westermarck s short story aftonstämning evening mood from 1890 is read as an example of interart transposition stella kleve s novels and short stories are seen as indicative of the narrative modes of a literary impressionism drawing on scenic representation but also present textual features such as the metonymic mode and delayed decoding elements that are central to the international approach to impressionist prose the concluding analysis of fictional impressionists in the works of authors such as gustaf af geijerstam mathilda roos and georg nordensvan sketches a many sided portrait of the impressionist painter while remaining true to this study s pluralistic approach by including a discussion of k a tavaststjerna s impressionisten the impressionist from 1892 whose protagonist is not an artist but a hypersensitive impressionable subject this last section also investigates how fiction is used to convey a critical discussion of the means and methods of painterly impressionism as well as the function of the use of the visual arts in these texts
