The Courage to Be a Leader 2020-09-02 this book has 111 laws they were discovered after an intense program of fundamental analysis and mental comparison arranging a large amount of information as in a periodic table in which each has its place and role it was not easy to define these laws it was a challenge that required my entire vision one that can feel the place where there are specific nodes common points in a three dimensional map in constant motion i have identified these laws as fixed points and those points are safe places for those who are navigating for personal transformation it s hard to explain because this process is beyond me what i do know is that sometimes after i finished writing each law i had the feeling that it had to be written that way and that nothing had to be changed as if someone or something was guiding me to write like that maybe my talent as a writer perhaps the intuition i ve tried to develop all these years maybe my inner passion made me move to a higher level of personal development and be able to write these 111 laws of leadership presented here if someone had told me i was going to write this book i might not have believed it i evolved a lot and everything was done gradually without feeling a special effort i grew through the decision not to accept anything other than quality information not to do anything but write even if through this journey i exposed myself financially and it was not easy for me over time i met many trainers colleagues of mine with whom i met at certain events in an overwhelming proportion they had a job usually at state owned companies and from time to time they had another training for which they took a day off or worked after hours there was no question of writing books because they did not have enough time when you know that you have all the time in the world to write and that nothing stops you then you dive into the ocean of inspiration it is possible to stay there for a few months maybe more than a year to the despair of acquaintances who do not understand what is happening they cannot know that you are looking for more than the job they are used to every day in their eyes you are lazy and running away from responsibility and when you come out of that ocean of inspiration you have a crazy urge to write that you can t put out until you ve finished and published ten volumes already written in your mind nobody understands because nobody has patience with you for so many months everyone wants you to perform tomorrow if you didn t have to do that yesterday or writing doesn t work that way writing chooses its people and not people choose their writing in all those months you make an inner commitment you dedicate yourself to writing and it becomes part of you and if you do no one will take away your ability to write well in all those months you live in your inner world you get hungry for writing and when you come to the surface you sit in front of your laptop and start writing for all that time words connect thoughts are clear there you just have to let them lie on their own how many trainers dare to let themselves be carried away by this wave without knowing where it really leads them to let themselves be carried away by intuition without any tangible guarantee are they and their families financially exposed without thinking about bank installments or other vital expenses i did it because i dared to do it and these books are proof of that courage

Technology Leadership for School Improvement 2011 leadership qualities are present in all of us because we have the potential to be strong and influential leaders if a seed doesn t find the right environment it will only be left with the potential to be a plant if our potential is not used then we will remain at this stage for life i don t know if you are happy with the life you have personally i wish for more i want to grow personally to better myself and to be professional in my field if we agree that each of us has this potential that is now latent then what makes leaders so different from other people i think the difference is not so much the major difference as it is the open and proactive attitude that a leader has the leader is constantly looking for ideas for new useful things this is what makes him different the ability to embrace a doctrine of the new which he uses for positive purposes as part of the goals of the organization he leads the portrait i paint of the authentic leader is no more and no less than the image of an ideal leader the sum of the qualities that in my view a leader should have perhaps this ideal is far from what we see in our political or social leaders but we will discover in them many of the qualities presented in the book leaders are survivors they know how to stay ahead and have learned to do things immediately well and with guality they have learned to see the organization they lead as an important part of their lives they don t see themselves as bosses or paid managers but as architects people who are shaping a future for themselves and their team members and organization there is much to be said and i leave it to those who read this book to discover in turn the laws presented and why not to discover themselves i invite you to read these laws and write down in a notebook the valuable things you find here because leadership always starts from core values if we don t have a set of values to believe in and fight for then we will never become leaders all of these laws to me are valuable they are the essence of leadership and i hope they resonate in the minds of those seeking to learn more about leaders and leadership the more we are willing to learn the more our power to influence will grow it s simple and easy if we find the motivation to study and apply the laws of leadership as often as we can
