this book explores modern islamic terrorism in the context of globalization and cultural evolution 21st century terrorism is different and new first because it relies heavily on electronic communication systems and other aspects of modern technologies and second because it is in large part a product of fractured globalization with its associated threats to the collective identity of muslims part one of this work contrasts globalization as an ideal with globalization as it is actually taking place with its enormous contradictions and threats moghaddam a longtime and highly respected terrorism and conflict researcher argues that globalization is resulting in serious threats to the basic psychological needs of some particularly in connection with collective identity part two explores how globalization has brought sudden contact between different groups with no previous history of large scale contact resulting in a rapid decline in diversity terrorism is one of the dysfunctional defense mechanisms of people in such conditions facing external threats part three describes long term solutions focusing particularly on the role of women and the nature of the family in traditional islamic societies moghaddam shows us why globalization is resulting in what he calls catastrophic evolution the rapid decline and disappearance of minority cultures and languages and why that brings a clash of ideologies and the rise of extremism there are also other dangerous trends and those call for inspired solutions springing from an understanding that traditional conflict resolution evolved in the shadow of the cold war is no longer effective and needs to change

No More States? 2006

the twentieth century witnessed an explosion of new nations carved out of existing ramshackle empires and multiethnic states many observers contend that the creation of new states will continue indefinitely with the two hundred of today becoming the four hundred of tomorrow as more groups seek independence this provocative and compelling book explores the impact of globalization and terrorism on this trend arguing convincingly that the era of national self determination has finally come to an end examining the forces that determine the emergence of new nation states the distinguished contributors consider a rich array of specific cases from the middle east asia north america europe and russia where new states could be created they contend that globalization rather than expanding such opportunities is not as friendly to new weak states with limited resources as it is to established rich nations given the vast sums circulating in the world market few fledgling nations can be financially independent they find it more prudent to shelter within the protective embrace of existing federations equally governments of federal states can induce restive petitioners such as quebec scotland and the basques to remain inside the metropolitan boundary through a system of tangible restraints and rewards those who reject the benefits such as rebels in chechnya and aceh will fail in their bids for independence taiwan poised on a knife edge between integration with china and independence faces a series of costs and diminished returns if it seeks full statehood finally terrorism has lost its legitimacy as a technique for gaining independence in the eyes of the international community despite the stall in new state formation there has been no sign of successful military or imperial expansion by established countries toward consolidation into fewer larger national units neither aggression by regional states such as the iraq invasion of kuwait in 1990 nor intervention such as the u s occupation

Root Causes of Suicide Terrorism 2006-09-27

this highly topical new study clearly shows how there are at least two reasons to question the central role that is assigned to religion in particular islam when explaining suicide terrorism suicide terrorism is a modern phenomenon yet islam is a very old religion except for two periods in the twelfth and eighteenth centuries suicide was never part of islamist beliefs and behaviours actually islam clearly forbids suicide hence the argument that islamic religious beliefs are the main cause of suicide terrorism is inherently dubious many suicide attacks have been carried out by secular organizations with little connection to fundamentalist islam palestinian fatah the popular front for the liberation of palestine and the kurkish workers party moreover one of the organizations that has employed this strategy devastatingly and regularly is the ltte liberation tigers of tamil elam not only are members of this organization not muslim most of them are not religious at all this superb new book contains essays by some of the world s leading scholars of terrorism and political violence it is essential reading for students of terrorism political science and middle eastern politics and useful to students of social psychology theology and history

The West and the Rest 2002

as an academic field in its own right the topic of border studies is experiencing a revival in university geography courses as well as in wider political commentary until recently border studies in contemporary southeast asia appeared as an afterthought at best to the politics of interstate rivalry and national consolidation the maps set out all agreed postcolonial lines meanwhile the physical demarcation of these boundaries lagged large slices of territory on land and at sea eluded definition or delineation that comforting ambiguity has disappeared both evolving technologies and price levels enable rapid resource extraction in places and in volumes once scarcely imaginable the beginning of the 21st century s second decade is witnessing an intensifying diplomacy both state to state and commercial over offshore petroleum in particular the south china sea has moved from being a rather arcane area of conflict studies to the status of a bellwether issue along with other contested areas in the western pacific and south asia the problem increasingly defines china s regional relationships in asia and with powers outside the region especially the united states yet intraregional territorial differences also hobble multilateral diplomacy to counter chinese claims and daily management of borders remains burdened by a lot of retrospective baggage the contributors to this book emphasize this mix of heritage and history as the primary leitmotif for contemporary border rivalries and dynamics whether the region s 11 states want it or not their bordered identity is falling into ever sharper definition if only because of pressure from extraregional states this book aims to provide new ways of looking at the reality and illusion of bordered southeast asia
