A Look at Zambia's Road Financing Strategies: The Impact of Incongruent Policies and Budgets

2023-11-04

there are various reasons why the road asset in zambia has been deteriorating over the past five decades since independence much effort to restore the road asset to its original value and keep it maintained in a good and safe condition was initiated in mid 1990s with the launch of the road sector investment plan phase i which was immediately followed by the launch of a phase ii to run from 2003 to 2013 it is my appreciation that many diagnostic studies into road financing strategies which could have led to inefficient road asset management in zambia have been undertaken and various solutions tendered the author takes cognizance that resource mobilization for road construction and maintenance and subsequent allocation to respective road programs can often be problematic for an emerging country like zambia it has the potential to lead to inefficiencies in road asset management as has evidently been demonstrated in the declining road asset value over time the political as well as the economic landscape plays a vital role in resource mobilization and allocation strategies as much as the institutional and the legal framework do the failure to clear the backlog of maintenance which normally results largely from deferment of scheduled maintenance due to insufficient annual budgetary allocation to the road sector maintenance programs has led to the significant deterioration in road network condition exorbitant road construction costs have posed additional challenges to the fiscus thereby constraining both the quantity and quality of road infrastructure that could be constructed and maintained at any given time recent policy drives have been categorical in their preference of new road construction aimed at linking zambia over road maintenance which plays a pivotal role in road asset management this creates a perception that policy pronouncements are at variance to policy documents which promote sustainable economic development through efficient road investments and could be seen as being paradoxical in that the actual financing strategies are skewed towards road construction a recipe of comfort for the next election challenge due to increased visibility on the ground rather than to maintenance as an astute and effective way of managing the road asset the difficult of establishing congruence between government pronouncements and actual road business strategies in the implementing agencies has over the years posed challenges to the fiscal policy implementation consequently this has often led to serious budget overruns due firstly to unplanned expenditure and secondly variations due to scope increase resulting from project implementation without having prior designs this has led to high operating inefficiencies of existing roads due to the high level of pavement degradation with the eventual effect of higher vehicle operating costs longer travel times driver and passenger discomfort and ultimately higher agency pavement replacement costs the damage caused to the economy is apparent in all this the author carried out an analysis of road financing strategies in zambia taking a special look into the past decade with the view to ascertaining the extent to which roads budgets have been employed to fund new construction and maintenance this was necessary to establish whether there was a mismatch in allocation of resources for roads in terms of needs and policy in which new road construction is highly favored in preference to maintenance it was hoped that if the mismatch existed it would espouse some paradoxes which existed between the road asset management policies and actual strategies examines the history of post colonial kenya's and zambia's relations with the people's republic of china from ideological political economic and social perspectives africa has become a major platform from which to analyse and understand china's growing influence in the global south yet the impact of their historical relationship has been largely overlooked through the triangulation of the global cold war african history and chinese history this study provides a detailed analysis of china africa relations in the second half of the 20th century examining the encounters conflicts and dynamics of china kenya zambia relations from the 1950s until the present as well as the basis on which historical narratives have been constructed the book presents two contrasting state perspectives underlining the concept of african agency driven by a class based analysis of world revolution communist china's foreign policy did not distinguish significantly between kenya and zambia both countries sought ideological and material support from china in the years after their independence the kenya african national union under both jomo kenyatta and daniel moi pursued a consistently pragmatic foreign agenda and despite political tensions and ideological rifts with china since the mid 1960s sino kenyan trade has continued to grow steadily in contrast china zambia relations under kenneth kaunda were cordial despite their political differences zambian leaders maintained a relatively high consensus that any alleged chinese communist threat would not be allowed to fuel power struggles within their united national independence party challenging both the widely accepted role of china africa's historical lineage as well as the tendency to assume uniformity in china's relationships across the continent the author explains the development of these relationships and sheds light on the historical underpinnings or lack thereof on contemporary china africa relations transport prices for most african landlocked countries range from 15 to 20 percent of import costs this is approximately two to three times more than in most developed countries it is well known that weak infrastructure can account for low trade performance thus it becomes necessary to understand what types of regional transport services operate in landlocked african nations and it is critical to identify the regulation disparities and provision anomalies that hurt infrastructure efficiency even when the physical infrastructure such as a road transport corridor exists transport prices and costs in africa analyzes the various reasons for poor transport performance seen widely throughout africa and provides a compelling case for a number of national and regional reforms that are vital to the effort to address the underlying causes of high transport prices and costs and service unpredictability seen in africa the book will greatly help supervisory authorities throughout the region develop and implement a comprehensive transport policy that will facilitate long term growth under what conditions will successful nonviolent revolutions lead to democratization while the scholarly literature has shown that nonviolent resistance has a positive effect on a country s level of democracy little research to date has disaggregated this population to explain which cases of successful nonviolent resistance lead to democracy and which do not this book presents a theory of democratization in transitions initiated by nonviolent resistance based on the successful resolution of two central strategic challenges maintaining high transitional mobilization and avoiding institutionally destructive maximalism i test the theory first on a dataset of every transition from authoritarian rule in the post world war ii period and second with three in depth case studies informed by interviews with key decision makers in nepal zambia and brazil the testing supports the importance of high mobilization and low maximalism both have strong consistent effects on democratization after nonviolent resistance china s rise to global power status in recent decades has been accompanied by deepening economic relationships with africa with the new silk road s extension to sub saharan africa as the latest step leading to much academic debate about the influence of chinese business in the continent however china s engagement with african states at the political and diplomatic level has received less attention in the literature this book investigates the impact of chinese policies on african politics asking how china deals with political instability in africa and in turn how africans perceive china to be helping or hindering political stability while china officially operates with a foreign policy strategy which conceives of africa as one integrated monolithic area with the forum on china africa cooperation focac the flagship of inter continental cooperation this book highlights the plurality of context specific interaction patterns between china and african elites demonstrating how china s role and relevance has differently evolved according to whether african countries are resource rich and geostrategically important from the chinese perspective or not by looking comparatively at a range of different country cases the book aims to promote a more thorough understanding of how china reacts to political stability and instability and in which ways the country contributes to domestic political dynamics and stability within african states china s new role in african politics will be of interest to researchers from across political science international relations international law and economy security studies and african and chinese studies
