Civil Collaborative Law 2011-09-12 collaborative law began with a family lawyer who was disenchanted with the negative effects of litigation on clients and their lawyers out of his frustration a new dispute resolution process was born lawyers soon realized that there are many reasons that the benefits of the collaborative process should be extended beyond family cases collaborative lawyers discovered that disputes could be settled quickly at a fraction of the cost of ordinary litigation due to a completely different approach to negotiations in addition the process offers a confidential forum away from the courthouse and scheduling is at the discretion of the parties rather than court dockets knowing that the majority of classes in law schools emphasize an adversarial approach to dispute resolution this author set out to compile materials to teach law and business students about this new non adversarial form of dispute resolution which focuses on the clients and their interests and concerns rather than the lawyers and the legal system beginning with a history of the law and continuing through a review of several forms of dispute resolution the text then addresses the collaborative process and provides questions and exercises for readers to use in developing collaborative skills of their own tom brady and the tuck rule nobody knew health care could be so complicated the financial world has become way too complicated and very secretive what could tom brady donald trump and michael lewis possibly have in common complexity lewis has analyzed it trump has discovered it brady has benefited from it and the usa is entangled in it complex systems are an inevitable part of business and socio economic structures we reach a breaking point however when social and organizational structures become cumbersome and unintelligible entire new systems need to be constructed just to manage this complexity with questionable or negative value to society at large the outcome is high costs poor results deepening social inequality and the erosion of public trust wholesale changes must be contemplated this is particularly true in the usa today where complexity is piled upon complexity in a number of critical sectors such as health care energy finance and government the author takes a common sense broad based and analytical approach to some of the most complicated issues facing the us today he examines the costs of complexity through a wide angle lens provides analysis of the root causes involved and explains what is necessary to improve results and lower costs the ever increasing level of complexity in the us is compared to that in other developed economies history is referenced as a guide to show that in many areas america's success has relied on simple and elegant solutions these contrasting paths are used to propose alternative approaches and new solutions beyond analyzing how incredibly complex socio economic systems have emerged in recent years in the us the author steps back reflects on the fundamental values of this country and offers a number of actionable proposals to improve the lives of all american citizens etienne deffarges has enjoyed a successful career first as a senior strategy consultant to many leading global companies then as a health care technology entrepreneur in the us he is perfectly positioned to observe how complex systems are stifling socio economic progress he brings a unique insider view of the issues involved and examines a number of key sectors that impact american society at large including health care energy finance regulations taxation utilities and welfare the rise of transparency in international arbitration is inspired by a joint research conducted in the last years by the milan chamber of arbitration and the law school of the university carlo cattaneo liuc castellanza in italy the two bodies have shared a common concern in order to increase the use of international commercial arbitration and to develop a proper culture in the field the need for enhancing transparency and especially for a wider dissemination of arbitral awards the advantages of arbitration as the main alternative means of dispute resolution are well known and undisputed privacy and confidentiality are among them and at the same time among the prevailing features of any arbitral proceedings however sometimes users have the feeling to deal with a close and too slow growing world the need if not the request for a greater accountability of the arbitral world in the whole is more and more widespread in this context the aim of this book is on the one hand to spur discussion and to shed new light on the traditional idea of confidentiality in international commercial arbitration and in some other figures alike although this idea is sometimes founded upon sound reasons that cannot be ignored or totally set aside it must be reconsidered by taking into account the rise of transparency on the other hand a specific proposal is made in order to step ahead from the current situation with particular reference to the issue of the publication of the awards in this respect the main outcome is the guidelines for the anonymous publication of arbitral awards already adopted and experienced by the milan chamber they are addressed to institutions practitioners scholars with the goal to favor the circulation of the awards and of the related decisions this book provides an introduction to the physics of interstellar gas in the galaxy it deals with the diffuse interstellar medium which supplies a complex environment for exploring the neutral gas content of a galaxy like the milky way and the techniques necessary for studying this non stellar component after an initial exposition of the phases of the interstellar medium and the role of gas in a spiral galaxy the authors discuss the transition from atomic to molecular gas they then consider basic radiative transfer and molecular spectroscopy with particular emphasis on the molecules useful for studying low density molecular gas observational techniques for investigating the gas and the dust component of the diffuse interstellar medium throughout the electromagnetic spectrum are explored emphasizing results from the recent herschel and planck missions a brief exposition on dust in the diffuse interstellar medium is followed by a discussion of molecular clouds in general and high latitude molecular clouds in particular ways of calibrating CO observations with the molecular hydrogen content of a cloud are examined along with the dark molecular gas controversy high latitude molecular clouds are considered in detail as vehicles for applying the techniques developed in the book given the transient nature of diffuse and translucent molecular clouds the role of turbulence in the origin and dynamics of these objects is examined in some detail the book is targeted at graduate students or postdocs who are entering the field of interstellar medium studies seascape ecology provides a comprehensive look at the state of the science in the application of landscape ecology to the seas and provides guidance for future research priorities the first book devoted exclusively to this rapidly emerging and increasingly important discipline it is comprised of contributions from researchers at the forefront of seascape ecology working around the world it presents the principles concepts methodology and techniques informing seascape ecology and reports on the latest developments in the application of the approach to marine ecology and management a growing number of marine scientists geographers and marine managers are asking questions about the marine environment that are best addressed with a landscape ecology perspective seascape ecology represents the first serious effort to fill the gap in the literature on the subject key topics and features of interest include the origins and history of seascape ecology and various approaches to spatial patterning in the sea the links between seascape patterns and ecological processes with special attention paid to the roles played by seagrasses and salt marshes and animal movements through seascapes human influences on seascape ecology includes models for assessing human seascape interactions a special epilogue in which three eminent scientists who have been instrumental in shaping the course of landscape ecology offer their insights and perspectives seascape ecology is a must read for researchers and professionals in an array of disciplines including marine biology environmental science geosciences marine and coastal management and environmental protection it is also an excellent supplementary text for university courses in those fields

it is now widely recognised that a cold war perspective falls short in unfolding the complex geographies of connections and the multipolarity of actions and transactions that were shaped through the movement of individuals and ideas from africa to the east and from the east to africa in the decades in which african countries moved to independence adopting an interdisciplinary transregional perspective this volume casts new light on aspects of the role of eastern europe and the soviet union in the decolonisation of africa taking further themes explored in a collection of essays published by the editors in 2019 the twelve case studies by authors from south africa czech republic portugal russia hungary italy canada serbia and germany draw on new sources to explore the history of the ties that existed between african liberation movements and the socialist bloc some of which continue to influence relationships today chapters contribute to three relevant main themes that resonate in a number of scholarly fields of inquiry ranging from global studies transregional studies cold war studies global history to african studies eastern european russian and slavic studies reconsiderations resources and reverberations drawing upon newly opened archives and combining transregional perspectives with sources in different languages chapters explicitly point out the shortcomings of past research and debates in the respective field they highlight new avenues which have been developing and which need to be further developed reconsiderations selected case studies address the resources of those being active and involved in decolonisation processes be it in east north west and south they reveal which resources both material and intellectual are the actors drawing upon on the other hand from which resources are individuals on one side or the other reciprocally or intermittently intentionally kept away resources finally the third theme puts an emphasis on the historicity of the processes depicted studies point to the gaps and dead ends of international support the paths that peter out but also to repercussions and reverberations up until today reverberations taken these three themes together the individual chapters contribute to the overall question of which general historical narratives about the second half of the 20th century are changing based on these new research findings
