william friedkin and others in the 1980s as far from conforming to a monolithic pattern of decline but rather as diverse and complex responses to political and industrial changes the 1980s are routinely seen as the era of the blockbuster and of reaganite entertainment whereas the dominant view of late 1960s and early 1970s american film history is that of a hollywood renaissance a relatively brief window of artistry based around a select group of directors yet key directors associated with the renaissance period remained active throughout the 1980s and their work has been obscured or dismissed by a narrow singular model of american film history this book deals with industrial contexts that conditioned these directors ability to work creatively but it is also very much about the analysis of individual films bringing to light a range of unheralded work from the visual experimentation of one from the heart coppola 1981 to the experimental production contexts of secret
