The History of The Quranic Text: from Revelation to Compilation

2008-01-01

this expansive book provides unique insights into the holy text s immaculate preservation as well as exploring many of the accusations leveled against it the reception of divine revelations prophet muhammad s role in disseminating and compiling these verses and the setting of the text s final external shape are scientifically examined alongside such topics as the origins of arabic the so called mushaf of ibn masud and the strict methodology employed in assembling textual fragments by way of comparison the author investigates the histories of the old and new testaments relying entirely on judeo christian sources and uncovers a startling range of alterations in the biblical scriptures using this as a springboard he illustrates convincingly that western research into islam s holy book is motivated by more than mere curiosity and has no scientific bearing on the quran s integrity this monumental effort a scholarly work composed in an impassioned tone provides a welcome foundation for sincere study at a time when assailing the quran has become all too common still in its infancy because of the overly conservative views and methods assumed by the majority of scholars working in it since the mid 19th century the field of early islamic and quranic studies is one in which the very basic questions must nowadays be addressed with decision accordingly this book tries to resituate the qur ān at the crossroads of the conversations of old to which its parabiblical narratives witness and explores how muhammad s image which was apparently modelled after that of the anonymous prophet repeatedly alluded to in the qur ān originally matched that of other prophets and or charismatic figures distinctive in the late antique sectarian milieu out of which islam gradually emerged moreover it contends that the quranic noah narratives provide a first hand window into the making of muhammad as an eschatological prophet and further examines their form content purpose and sources as a means of deciphering the scribal and intertextual nature of the qur ān as well as the jewish christian background of the messianic controversy that gave birth to the new arab religion the previously neglected view that muhammad was once tentatively thought of as a new messiah challenges our common understanding of islam s origins in the western imagination islamic cultures are dominated by dogmatic religious norms that permit no nuance those fighting such stereotypes have countered with a portrait of islam s medieval golden age marked by rationality tolerance and even proto secularism how can we understand islamic history culture and thought beyond this dichotomy in this magisterial cultural and intellectual history thomas bauer reconsiders classical and modern islam by tracing differing attitudes toward ambiguity over a span of many centuries he explores the tension between one strand that aspires to annihilate all uncertainties and establish absolute uncontestable truths and another competing tendency that looks for ways to live with ambiguity and accept complexity bauer ranges across cultural and linguistic ambiguities considering premodern islamic textual and cultural forms from law to quranic exegesis to literary genres alongside attitudes toward religious minorities and foreigners he emphasizes the relative absence of conflict between religious and secular discourses in classical islamic culture which stands in striking contrast to both present day fundamentalism and much of european history bauer shows how islam s encounter with the modern west and its demand for certainty helped bring about both islamicist and secular liberal ideologies that in their own ways rejected ambiguity and therefore also their own cultural traditions awarded the prestigious leibniz prize a culture of ambiguity not only reframes a vast range of islamic history but also offers an interdisciplinary model for investigating the tolerance of ambiguity across cultures and eras what is jihad does it mean violence as many non muslims assume or does it mean peace as some muslims insist because jihad is closely associated with the early spread of islam today s debate about the origin and meaning of jihad is nothing less than a struggle over islam itself in jihad in islamic history michael bonner provides the first study in english that focuses on the early history of jihad shedding much needed light on the most recent controversies over jihad to some jihad is the essence of radical islamist ideology a synonym for terrorism and even proof of islam s innate violence to others jihad means a peaceful individual and internal spiritual striving bonner however shows that those who argue that jihad means only violence or only peace are both wrong jihad is a complex set of doctrines and practices that have changed over time and continue to evolve today the quran s messages about fighting and jihad are inseparable from its requirements of generosity and care for the poor jihad has often been a constructive and creative force the key to building new islamic societies and states jihad has regulated relations between muslims and non muslims in peace as well as in war and while today s jihadists are in some ways following the classical jihad tradition they have in other ways completely broken with it written for general readers who want to understand jihad and its controversies jihad in islamic history will also interest specialists because of its original arguments similarities between esoteric and mystical currents in different religious traditions have long interested scholars this book takes a new look at the relationship between such currents it advances a discussion that started with the search for religious essences archetypes and universals from william james to eranos the universal categories that resulted from that search were later criticized as essentialist constructions and questioned by deconstructionists an alternative explanation was advanced by diffusionists that there were transfers between different traditions this book presents empirical case studies of such constructions and of transfers between judaism christianity and islam in the premodern period and judaism christianity and western esotericism in the modern period it shows that there were indeed transfers that can be clearly documented and that there were also indeed constructions often very imaginative it also shows that there were many cases that were neither transfers nor constructions but a mixture of the two
