Does the light just go out and that's that? The million-year nap or will some part of my personality, my mess, persist? What will that feel like? What will I do all day? Is there a place to plug in my laptop? Mary Roach trains her considerable humour and curiosity on the human soul, seeking answers from a varied and fascinating crew of contemporary and historical soul-searchers, scientists, schemers, engineers, mediums, all trying to prove or disprove that life goes on after we die. Along the way, she encounters electromagnetic hauntings, out-of-body experiences, ghosts, and lawsuits. Mary Roach sifts and weighs the evidence in her hilarious, inimitable style.

What happens to you when you can't walk for a year? When you can't have sex or smell flowers? What happens if you vomit in your helmet during a space walk? Is it possible to survive a bailout at 17,000 miles an hour? Space is a world devoid of the things we need to live and thrive: air, gravity, hot showers, fresh veg, privacy, beer. To answer these questions, space agencies set up all manner of quizzical and startlingly bizarre space simulations, and as Mary Roach discovers, it's possible to preview space without ever leaving Earth. Packing for Mars takes us on a surreally entertaining voyage into the science of life in space and space on Earth.
