low level river crossings including culverts are important for delivering a range of valuable socioeconomic services including transportation and hydrological control these structures are also known to have negative impacts on freshwater river system morphology and ecology including the blockage of upstream fish passage particularly small body mass fish species given the enormous environmental problems created by road crossings new hydraulic engineering guidelines are proposed for fish friendly multi cell box culvert designs the focus of these guidelines is on smooth box culverts without appurtenance with a novel approach based upon three basic concepts i the culvert design is optimized for fish passage for small to medium water discharges and for flood capacity for larger discharges ii low velocity zones are provided along the wetted perimeter in the culvert barrel and quantified in terms of a fraction of the wetted flow area where the local longitudinal velocity is less than a characteristic fish speed linked to swimming performances of targeted fish species and iii the culvert barrel is smooth without any other form of boundary treatment and appurtenance the present monograph develops a number of practical considerations in particular relevant to box culvert operations for less than design discharges it is argued that upstream fish passage capabilities would imply a revised approach to maintenance in part linked to the targeted fish species this reference work is authored for civil and environmental engineers as well as biology and ecology scientists interested in culvert design while the book is aimed to professionals the material is also lectured in postgraduate courses and in professional short courses

this is the first full length comparative study of the music of the christian and jewish liturgies it is designed to show the liturgical and musical interdependence of church and synagogue during the first millennium of the christian era and to highlight the series of cultural exchanges between east and west that occurred during those centuries with a wealth of scholarly evidence the author tells the story of the development of the christian forms of worship both eastern and roman at the same time he explains the modifications made in jewish ceremonies and rituals in areas where jews and christians lived side by side with resulting exchange in both directions from church to synagogue as well as from synagogue to church professor werner first examines jewish practices of worship at the time of the beginnings of christianity and then traces the spread and modifications of these ancient jewish and even pre jewish conceptions of sacred music and ritual as they were adapted by various christian groups historical philological and musicological scholarship is used to discover the complex interrelationship between christian and hebraic elements in prayer books poetry and psalmody hymns devotional music and all the other aspects of sacred liturgy professor werner has used many sources previously neglected and has reexamined those already available scholars of theology liturgy and music and historians as well will find much that will stimulate further research and all interested in the formation of the religions of the west will stand to profit from this scholarly work on the interplay of two great religious movements jacket
