Confucian Ethics 2004-09-13 publisher description

Legal Ethics 2004 examining legal ethics within the framework of modern practice this book identifies two important ethical issues that all lawyers confront the difference between the role of lawyers and the role of judges in pursuing justice and the conflicting responsibilities lawyers have to their clients and to the legal system more broadly in addressing these issues legal ethics provides an explanation of the duties and dilemmas common to practicing lawyers in modern legal systems throughout the world the authors focus their analysis on lawyers in independent practice in modern capitalist constitutional regimes including the united states japan europe and latin america as well as the emerging legal systems in china and the former soviet bloc to develop connections between the legal profession and political systems based on the rule of law they find that although ethical tension is inherent in the legal practice of all these societies the legal profession is essential to stable political institutions

A Bibliographic Guide to the Comparative Study of Ethics 1991-04-26 this bibliography is the culmination of four years work by a team of noted scholars its annotated entries are organised by religious tradition and cover each tradition s central concepts offering a judicious selection of primary and secondary works as well as recommendations of cross cultural topics to be explored specialists in the history and literature of religions and comparative religion will find this bibliography a valuable research tool

The Social Reality of Ethics 1972 comparing is one of the most essential practices in our everyday life as well as in science and humanities in this in depth philosophical analysis of the structure practice and ethics of comparative procedures hartmut von sass expands on the significance of comparison elucidating the ramified structure of comparing von sass suggests a typology of comparisons before introducing the notion of comparative injustice and the limits of comparisons he elaborates on comparing as practice by relating comparing to three relative practices orienting describing and expressing oneself to unfold some of the most important chapters of what might be called comparativism this approach allows von sass to clarify the idea of the incomparable distinguish between different versions of incomparability and shed light on important ethical aspects of comparisons today confronting the claim that we are living in an age of comparisons his book is an important contribution to ideas surrounding all encompassing measurements and scalability and their critique

Cosmogony and Ethical Order 1985 how should religion and ethics be studied if we want to understand what people believe and why they act the way they do in the 1980s and 90s postmodernist worries about led to debates that turned on power truth and relativism since the turn of the century scholars impressed by cognitive science have introduced concepts drawn from evolutionary biology neurosciences and linguistics in the attempt to provide naturalist accounts of religion deploying concepts and arguments that have their roots in the pragmatism of c s peirce believing and acting argues that both approaches are misguided and largely unhelpful in answering the questions that matter what did those people believe then how does it relate to what these people want to do now what is our evidence for our interpretations pragmatic inquiry into these questions recommends an approach that questions grand theories advocates a critical pluralism about religion and ethics that defies disciplinary boundaries in the pursuit of the truth rationality on a pragmatic approach is about solving particular problems in medias res thus there is no hard and fast line to be drawn between inquiry and advocacy both are essential to negotiating day to day life the upshot is an approach to religion and ethics in which inquiry looks much like the art history of michael baxandall and advocacy like the art criticism of arthur danto

MORALS IN EVOLUTION, 2018 the mahābhārata explores the plausibility of care based epistemology in a comparative key investigating the epistemic virtue of care giving the work weaves together insights from care ethics virtue epistemology and a particular reading of the mahābhārata which left to themselves do not appear compatible with one another drawing on these traditions the work goes on to provide a feminist vision of search for truth that is consistent with both ethical relations and interventions for justice

Explorations In Global Ethics 2018-03-08 whether an individual doctoral study or a large scale multidisciplinary project researchers working across cultures face particular challenges around power identity and voice as they encounter ethical dilemmas which extend beyond the micro level of the researcher researched relationship in using a cross cultural perspective on how to conceptualise research problems collect data and disseminate findings in an ethical manner they also engage with the geopolitics of academic writing language inequalities and knowledge construction within a globalised economy it is increasingly recognised that existing ethical codes and paradigms either do not sufficiently address such issues or tend to be rather restrictive and insensitive to multiple and complex cultural and contextual differences this book extends our understanding of the ethical issues and dilemmas faced by researchers in comparative and international education it asks what the relevance of postcolonial theory is for understanding research ethics in comparative and international education whether western ethical practices in qualitative social research are incompatible with cultures outside the west how a situated approach can be developed for exploring research ethics across cultures and institutions and how informed consent can be negotiated when the process appears to contradict community values and practices in sharing experiences from a wide range of cultural and institutional contexts the authors offer both theoretical resources and practical guidance for conducting research ethically across cultures this book was originally published as a special issue of compare a journal of comparative and international education

Comparative Religious Ethics 1978 a study of modern muslim ethics focussed upon the lives and writings of sayyid ahmad khan and mawlana mawdudi this monograph sheds light upon the modern ethical problems of contemporary islam sayyid ahmad khan often called a liberal a modernist or an acculturationist represents the liberal trend of sunni muslim ethics khan s approach borrows much from reason yet for khan reason and revelation are not in conflict reason guides the interpretation of islam when revelation is insufficient in contrast mawlana mawdudi s fundamentalism is at least in part anti rational it depends upon revelation as it comes to one man in particular and is very autocratic mcdonough is concerned with khan and mawdudi both writers within the indo pakistan muslim tradition their conflicting views their differing interpretations of ethics that suit islam in the contemporary world exemplify the difficulties and turmoil faced by muslims the world over for these men modernity has not spelled the end of islam yet each has found a different way of relating islam to the present and the future in faithfulness to traditional islam this monograph will be of interest to students of contemporary islam as well as to those interested in questions of comparative ethics for the liberal fundamentalist conflicts outlined in this monograph are analogous to manifestations of the same dichotomy in all world religions
