I really met myself through studying my heart 2024-05-04

here was a time when the happiness we wanted felt far away happiness didn't seem to have anything to do with me i desperately wanted real happiness not just happiness one of the many mysteries of our lives is that thoughts and beliefs create and make many things into reality this is the law of attraction and means that we are super strong magnets i didn't know it was hard and thanks to the experience that i wasn't happy i started studying my mind and in the process i met my true self and learned my preciousness and value thanks to this i am now the person who conveys that message to the world a lot of what happened to me is just mysterious and grateful i think and believe that everything that happens to us has a reason and meaning realization and wisdom through our experience and learning always help someone in need i hope that my stories and messages will be a light in the dark for those who really want to be me and have a happy and free life to commemorate properly the 70th birthday of a man who by his very nature is too busy to pause for any kind of ceremonial event unless it has a concomitant functional output was a difficult problem for the staff and associates of the neurosciences research program frank f o s has always dreaded the prospect that sometime it might be appropriate for his colleagues to present him a fest schrift in fact fest me no schriften became his battle cry expressing his feeling that the idea of testimonials clustered into a book was anathema so the break through idea for the planners was to organize a symposium around the theme of discovery in neuroscience that would be valuable scientifically and in its demonstration of interdisciplinary interaction would support that emphasis in frank s career after much planning a program was developed beginning with a birthday party the evening before followed by the two day symposium and closing with the first f o schmitt lecture in neuroscience we hope that publication of the scientific proceedings in this volume will be of interest not only to the neuroscience community but also to a broad general readership interested in discovery understanding and the creative processes in scientific work an organizing committee chaired by fred worden collected advice and guidance leading to the selection of speakers whose scientific careers have played an important part in the recent history of modern neuroscience the prophecies of a father is a remarkable piece of literary work the writer his excellency ambassador eddie m turay is very sincere and passionate in the presentation of his facts the facts relate to the culture traditions customs and party politics of his country the writers sincerity and passion revolves around the traditional beliefs and faith of his benevolent father in his ancestral spirits late paramount chief kande turay of sanda chieftdom he reveals that the late man was an animist who despite neither believed nor practiced christianity and islam yet he gave him the freedom and support to become a practicing christian his father was not only liberal towards the two mainstream religions christianity and islam but he was a great admirer of the whitemans education that was why he gave him his blessings and support to pursue education for which he will ever remain grateful paramount chieftaincy is one of the oldest and respectable political institutions in this part of the african continent the writer has thrown enlightening lights on the way it works in the sanda chieftdom northern sierra leone one more amazing revelation of the book is the prophecies of the writers father as the title of the book it is befitting because all that his father prophesied have come to pass his father did prophesise that the writer will dine and drink with royalties prime ministers and presidents at home and abroad which has come to pass in terms of his countrys national politics he paints the picture of the political culture that existed at the time it bordered on dysfunctional tendencies which was disturbing to him as an espouser of democracy and social justice thus educated and trained in the ethics of social justice and fairness the ambassador was determined to challenge these vices ironically it was his zealousness to challenge them that made him steal the heart of late president siaka p stevens the president was impressed so he convinced him to drop his legal practice and become a politician where he would have the opportunity to fully inculcate and defend the values of fair play and social justice as espoused by democratic ethos particularly at the grassroots levels of the nations politics the writer skilfully draws the contrasts between the old and new apc and above all the successful leadership of president ernest bai koroma leader of the apc he registers his unwavering support for the new apc party of which he is a profound member and her admirable leadership this book is an eye catching read as well as educative for its sincerity passion fun simple and quality language and buttressed by ideal concepts he ambassador eddie m turays colleagues in the diplomatic service foreign office as well as politicians and educational institutions at home and abroad will find this book a handy resource material on sierra leone politics

Sir Philip Sidney, a Study in Conflict 2020-09-30

using reconstructive ideas available in classical indian original works this book makes a departure in the style of modern writings on indian moral philosophy it presents indian ethics in an objective secular and wherever necessary critical manner as a systematic down to earth philosophical account of moral values virtues rights and obligations it thereby refutes the claim that indian philosophy has no ethics as well as the counter claim that it transcends ethics it demonstrates that moral living proves that the individual his society and the world are really real and not only taken to be real for behavioral purposes as the advaitins hold the self is amoral being a non agent moksa is not a moral value and the karmic theory because of involving belief in rebirth does not guarantee that the doer of an action is also the experiencer of its results contrary to what is commonly held and indian ethics can sustain itself even if such notions are dropped rajendra prasad calls indian ethics organismic because along with ethical concerns it also covers issues related to professions politics administration sex environment etc therefore in one format it is theoretical and applied normative and metaethical humanistic and non humanistic etc of course within the limits of the then cognitive enquiry research in action engages the researcher who wants to live up to the challenges of contemporary science and to contribute to innovation and social change this ambition to contribute to change raises many questions how to define the main target group of the research what role does this group play in the research which methods of data collection are most appropriate who are the commissioners of the research and do their interests match with those of the prime target group how to deal with power relations in research situations what do these issues mean for the relation of researcher with the people in the researched situation and last but not least what does it all imply for the researcher him or herself these questions have to be dealt with in situations in which the design and organization of the research is still open but also in situations where these have already been preformatted through the research proposal or earlier developments in any case they have to be framed in the theoretical considerations of what is science this book aims to assist scholars and practitioners who would want to deal with this kind of research and questions the book does not offer recipes nor fixed scenarios it presents a series of practical research cases and theoretical insights by experienced researchers who themselves struggled with what is probably the most meaningful questions of the science today the practical examples of research in action are from different disciplines and include themes from health care policy research agricultural technology and education in northern and southern context four leading themes of research in action are introduced in the first chapter in the last chapter the editors return to the dilemmas research in action and try to clarify the options and responses that are possible in different situations
