this invaluable book provides a broad introduction to a rapidly growing area of nonequilibrium statistical physics the first part of the book complements the classical book on the langevin and fokker planck equations h risken the fokker planck equation methods of solution and applications springer 1996 some topics and methods of solutions are presented and discussed in details which are not described in risken s book such as the method of similarity solution the method of characteristics transformation of diffusion processes into the wiener process in different prescriptions harmonic noise and relativistic brownian motion connection between the langevin equation and tsallis distribution is also discussed due to the growing interest in the research on the generalized langevin equations several of them are presented they are described with some details recent research on the integro differential fokker planck equation derived from the continuous time random walk model shows that the topic has several aspects to be explored this equation is worked analytically for the linear force and the generic waiting time probability distribution function moreover generalized klein kramers equations are also presented and discussed they have the potential to be applied to natural systems such as biological systems contents introduction langevin and fokker planck equations fokker planck equation for one variable and its solution fokker planck equation for several variables generalized langevin equations continuous time random walk model uncoupled continuous time random walk model and its solution readership advanced undergraduate and graduate students in mathematical physics and statistical physics biologists and chemists who are interested in nonequilibrium statistical physics keywords langevin equation fokker planck equation klein kramers equation continuous time random walk model colored noise tsallis entropy population growth models wright functions mittag leffler function method of similarity solution first passage time relativistic brownian motion fractional derivatives integro differential fokker planck equations review key features this book complements risken s book on the langevin and fokker planck equations some topics and methods of solutions are presented and discussed in details which are not described in risken

s book several generalized langevin equations are presented and discussed with some detail integro differential fokker planck equation is derived from the uncoupled continuous time random walk model for generic waiting time probability distribution function which can be used to distinguish the differences for the initial and intermediate times with the same behavior in the long time limit moreover generalized klein kramers equations are also described and discussed to our knowledge these approaches are not found in other textbooks ageing infrastructure and declining water resources are major concerns with a growing global population controlling water loss has therefore become a priority for water utilities around the world in order to improve their efficiencies water utilities need to apply good practice in leak detection to deal with losses in an effective manner particularly from networks in water scarce areas water utility managers are increasingly turning to technology to reduce costs increase efficiency and improve reliability companies that continuously invest in technology and innovation should see a positive return on investment in terms of improving daily operations and collection and analysis of network data for decision making and forward planning methodologies for achieving the best results to reduce water losses are continuously evolving water utilities and equipment manufacturers are increasingly working together to stretch the boundaries of current knowledge this is leading to some innovative technologies and new product development to complement current methodologies this book reflects the situation at the time of publication this 2nd edition of the book updates practices and technologies that have been introduced or further developed in recent years in leakage detection outlining recent advancements in technology used such as satellite aided methods in leak location pipeline inspection with thermal diagnostics inspection of pipelines by air using infra red or thermal imaging cameras drones for leak detection activities and even sniffing dogs in addition it is enriched with new case studies which provide useful examples of practical applications of several leak detection practices and technologies drawing on qualitative and quantitative research this book provides a path breaking account of civil society in the philippines it challenges the widespread belief in political science and development studies literature that civil society in developing countries is an institutional arena in which the poor can challenge and reverse their social economic and political marginalization the book goes on to argue that philippine civil society is a captive of organised elite interests and anti developmental in its impacts helping elites to oppose the initiatives of reform minded governments and to protect their interests in contrast to literature suggesting that the character of civil society is a function of regime type and hence evolves in a path dependent manner the book explores the history of philippine civil society between 1571 and 2010 and suggests that civil society is primarily a function of the evolving political economy of a country and the resulting social structure it argues that civil society in nascent democracies such as the philippines develops in a distinctly non linear manner largely independently of regime type or regime development as a result it argues democratization in low income countries does not lead inevitably to broader participation and empowerment through civil society expansion as many academics activists and donor representatives suggest the book is of interest to students and scholars of southeast asian history and politics as well as those interested in the study of non governmental organizations ngos and social movements and in the statistical capture of civil society
