in order to understand today's nationalism we need to address the historical decline of working class communities the sense of loss brought by deindustrialisation and how working class people have been denied a voice in society and politics discontent has manifested strongly in these deprived post industrial areas often branded as communities that have been left behind under neoliberal globalisation whilst more and more people are voicing their discontent with a system that fails to provide social security and economic stability many researchers have branded them merely as racists xenophobes and ill educated although prejudices are likely to play a part in all political outcomes today's dissatisfaction across the west cannot be reduced to mere emotion and intolerance this book therefore utilises on the ground research with working class individuals in a leave voting locale in britain exploring their discontent with politicians the labour party the european union immigration refugees and the prolonged calls for a second referendum it situates this sentiment towards society and politics within the decline of capitalism's post war era and the loss of well paid industrial jobs increase in non unionised service employment and the hollowing out of community spirit this text includes a selection of commissioned and classic articles that introduce a range of theories of second language acquisition and the contested explanations of effective language learning english and its teachers offers a historical overview of the development of secondary english teaching in schools over the past 50 years initially charting the rise of a new progressive approach in the 1960s the book then considers the implications for the subject and its teachers of three decades of central policy intervention throughout document and interview data are combined to construct a narrative that details the fascinating and at times turbulent history the book is divided into two main parts the age of invention and the age of intervention the first of these sections details how innovative english teachers and academics helped to develop a new model the second section explores how successive governments have sought to shape english through policy a final part draws comparisons with the teaching of the subject in other major english speaking nations and considers what the future might hold english and its teachers is a valuable resource for those interested in the teaching of english in secondary schools from new entrants to the profession to experienced teachers and academics working in the sector reprint of the original first published in 1861 construction grammar explains how knowledge of language is organized in speakers minds the central and radical claim of construction grammar is that linguistic knowledge can be fully described as knowledge of constructions which are defined as symbolic units that connect a linguistic form with meaning present day globalization migration and the spread of english have resulted in a great diversity of social and educational contexts in which english learning is taking place a basic assumption of this book is that because english is an international language effective pedagogical decisions cannot be made without giving special attention to the many varied contexts in which

english is taught and learned its unique value is the combination of three strands globalization sociolinguistics and english as an international language in one focused volume specifically designed for language teachers providing explicit links between sociolinguistic concepts and language pedagogy international english in its sociolinguistic contexts fully recognizes the relationship between social context and language teaching describes the social and sociolinguistic factors that affect the teaching and learning of english examines how the social context is influential in determining which languages are promoted in schools and society and how these languages are taught is unique in directly relating basic constructs in sociolinguistics to english language teaching features case studies that illustrate the diversity of english teaching contexts directed to a wide tesol and applied linguistics professional readership this text will be particularly useful and effective for pre service and in service professional development in tesol for k 12 and higher education levels did king alfred the great commission the old english translation of bede s historia ecclesiastica gentis anglorum probably the masterpiece of medieval anglo latin literature as part of his famous program of translation to educate the anglo saxons was the old english historia by any chance a political and religious manifesto for the emerging kingdom of the anglo saxons do we deal with the literary cornerstone of a nascent english identity at a time when the anglo saxon kingdoms were threatened by a common enemy the vikings andreas lemke seeks to answer these questions among others in his recent publication he presents us with a unique compendium of interdisciplinary approaches to the subject and sheds new light on the old english translation of the historia in a way that will fascinate scholars of literature language philology and history originally published in 1930 this book contains the text of old english and norse documents pertaining to events around the battle of maldon which resulted in defeat for the anglo saxons led by aethelred the unready a translation into modern english is provided on the facing page of each page of original text this book will be of value to anyone with an interest in historic anglo saxon relations with the norse lao she s teahouse and its two english translations exploring chinese drama translation with systemic functional linguistics provides an in depth application of systemic functional linguistics sfl to the study of chinese drama translation and theoretically explores the interface between sfl and drama translation investigating two english translations of the chinese drama teahouse 茶馆 cha guan in chinese by lao she and translated by john howard gibbon and ying ruocheng respectively bo wang and yuanyi ma apply systemic functional linguistics to point out the choices that translators have to make in translation this book is of interest to graduates and researchers of chinese translation and discourse studies this book which presents the whole splendid history of english literature from anglo saxon times to the close of the victorian era has three specific aims the first is to create or to encourage in every student the desire to read the best books and to know literature itself rather than what has been written about literature the second is to interpret literature both personally and historically that is to show how a great book generally reflects not only the author s life and thought but also the spirit of the age and the ideals of the nation s history the third aim is to show how study of each successive period how our literature has steadily developed from its first simple songs and stories to its present complexity in prose and poetry to carry out these aims we have introduced the following features 1 a brief accurate summary of historical events and social conditions in each period and a consideration of the ideals which stirred the whole nation as in the days of elizabeth before they found expression in literature 2 a study of the various literary epochs in turn showing what each gained from the epoch preceding and how each aided in the development of a national literature 3 a readable biography of every important writer showing how he lived and worked how he met success or failure how he influenced his age and how his age influenced him 4 a study and analysis of every author s best works and of many of the books required for college entrance examinations 5 selections enough especially from earlier writers and from writers not likely to be found in the home or school library to indicate the spirit of each author s work and directions as to the best works to read and where such works may be found in inexpensive editions 6 a frank untechnical discussion of each great writer s work as a whole and a critical estimate of his relative place and influence in our literature this study of the south african variety of english is an exercise in the sociology of language conducted mainly within the conceptual framework and methodology created by william labov it accepts that social process and social structure are reflected in patterns of covariation involving linguistic and social variables and in attitudes to different varieties of speech within the community this premise is pursued here in its historical implications linguistic evidence in present day speech patterns of earlier states of the society and of the social political and cultural changes that have brought about the present state the second main focus in this volume is directed at the concept of standard variety that is the social attributes and functions of a formal speech pattern for which the status of standard might be claimed physical properties mathematics and its application english version by chen shuxuan chen shuxuan was born on march 30 1936 in fuzhou fujian province he graduated from the department of physics at xiamen university he has been engaged in teaching and scientific research for many years in colleges and universities he has taught courses such as electrician principle electronic circuit pulse circuit digital logic computer composition principle computer application assembly language programming and so on based on many years of teaching experience he compiled the ibm microcomputer system and assembly language programming guide which was published by xiamen university press in march 1990 in addition to teaching he has made great efforts to develop the application of scientific theory and technology participated in the development of many electronic circuits and computer applications projects and published many research papers and works among them mm 1000 friction testing machine microcomputer system software and hardware development passed provincial technical appraisal in december 1987 the system plays an important role in the research of wet friction and wear testing technology and it has won the third prize of the ministry of electricity before retirement he was an associate professor in the department of computer science xiamen university the book contains profiles and photos of all legendary cricketers from eas prasanna gr vishwanath and dhasekhary
