questions solved question 1 what are hybridisation states of each carbon atom in the following compounds acetylene is a very weak acid however it will react with moist silver i oxide and form water and a compound composed of silver and carbon addition of a solution of hcl to a 0.2352 g sample of the compound of silver and carbon produced acetylene and 0.2822 g of agcl what is the empirical formula of the compound of silver and carbon founder master organic chemistry 400 free articles on undergraduate organic chemistry topics plus free and paid study guides a reaction encyclopedia practice problems tutoring more in organic chemistry we will learn about the reactions chemists use to synthesize crazy carbon based structures as well as the analytical methods to characterize them we will also think about how those reactions are occurring on a molecular level with reaction mechanisms simply put organic chemistry is like building with molecular legos frequency v 12.5
