between 1894 and 1905 the question of the chinese empire s future development its survival even was the most pressing overseas problem facing the great powers the frantic scramble for africa and the often more intense drama of the eastern question notwithstanding it was the china question that had the most profound implications for the powers since china s defeat in the 1894 5 war with japan the country s final disintegration was widely anticipated and so was a wider great power conflict in the event of china s implosion at times that prospect seemed very real the prospect of china s break up and of large scale international conflict in its wake altered the configuration among the great powers instability in the far east had ramifications beyond the confines of the region and as this study shows the events of 1894 5 initiated a wider transformation of international politics no power was more affected by these changes than Britain the China question therefore provides an ideal prism through which to view the problems of late nineteenth century British world policy and the policy of isolationism in particular this study breaks new ground by adopting a deliberately global approach in looking at British policy emphasizing the connections between European and overseas developments and by encompassing diplomatic commercial financial and strategic factors as well as the politics of foreign policy wherever international commerce flows in world politics military power often flows with it sometimes as a protector of commerce sometimes as its promoters and sometimes as a tool of aggression against it how are military power and international trade related do military power and commerce expand together or does military power decline as commerce and perhaps interdependence increases does this relationship vary across countries and if so how power conflict and trade is a study of the relationship between military power and international commerce among the great powers prior to world war i after building an argument for a direct relationship between military power and commerce one grounded in a mercantilist view of state power and exploring their numerous connections the book estimates models of the relationship among the great powers and explores a great deal of their commercial and military data all of which is situated in the context of their mutual rivalries another question investigated is whether the peacetime conflicts and rivalries of the great powers affected their trade relations adversely there is strong support for the argument that military power and commerce move together in world politics though there is evidence for an inverse relationship as well amount of interstate conflict is generated by a relatively small number of these pairs of states engaged in rivalries that can persist for years thus to understand interstate peace and conflict it is useful to know how rivalries work in general and more specifically in the past two decades a strenuous effort has been mounted to introduce the concept of rivalry and demonstrate its utility in unraveling conflict situations yet all rivalries are not exactly alike we need to move to a more rewarding differentiation of how they differ in general principal rivalries are those antagonisms that are most significant to the decision makers in a state the main distinction on issues about which rivals dispute are positional and spatial concerns positional rivalries contend over regional and global influence spatial rivals contend over which state deserves to control disputed territory interventionary rivalries predominate in sub saharan africa their primary focus involves neighboring states attempting to influence who rules and how co ethnics are treated this book updates the inventory of strategic rivalries from 1816 to 2020 principal rivalries are identified for the first time and cover the same period a theory stressing the two main types of rivalry positional and spatial is elaborated and tested regional variations on the origins and terminations of spatial rivalry are explored and interpreted in addition attention is paid to fluctuations in the intensity of positional rivalries by examining the working of the contemporary major power triangle united states soviet union russia and china and more generally the dynamics of regional
