27 8 sample lab report measuring g using a pendulum Nov 06 2023 abstract in this experiment we measured g by measuring the period of a pendulum of a known length we measured $g = 7.650378 \text{ m/s}^2$ this correspond to a relative difference of 22 with the accepted value 9.8 m/s^2 and our result is not consistent with the accepted value

isaac newton s law of universal gravitation proposed that the gravitational attraction between any two objects is directly proportional to the product of their masses and inversely proportional to the square of the distance between their centers measuring g via free fall nustem Sep 04 2023 the film shows four different methods of measuring g using a falling object drop a ball and time its fall with a stopwatch drop a g ball which times its own fall drop a ball through light gates use an electromagnetic switch to release a ball bearing with triggered timing centuries on newton s gravitational constant still can t be Aug 03 2023 but it shows that an experiment in space free of the complication of wires and nearby massive objects like the earth has potential to measure g in an entirely new way a cool way to measure big g nature Jun 01 2023 to understand the principle of the experiment we make two simplifications we assume the field mass is a point with mass m and that the atom interferometer measures g at one fixed point in demonstrating what outcome occurs when a particular factor is manipulated experiments vary greatly in goal and scale but always rely on repeatable procedure and logical analysis of the results there also exist natural experimental studies
