godfrey focuses on one hospital and the communities it served but also provides an overview of local provincial and federal hospital policies revising the sometimes rose tinted picture of public and private acceptance and generosity he explores the relationship between the hospital s urban and rural constituencies and its french and english speaking patients demonstrating that increasing patient numbers and changing funding sources encouraged substantial growth in hospital services from 1895 to 1953 he details how one community s understanding of the role of the hospital changed over time to match that of hospital advocates board members and support groups such as the ladies aid demonstrating that hospital history is as much a study of politics and community persuasion as it is of internal therapeutic advances
